That Season Is Here Again

By Hugh Reynolds

KINGSTON

The candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large met in open debate Wednesday night leaving no doubt in anybody's mind that they're all deadly serious about this campaign.

Also on the program sponsored by WHITA at the George Washington School were two of the three candidates for county clerk: Albert Spada, the incumbent Republican and Lewis Kirschner, his Democratic challenger. The Conservative candidate, William Hegeman, was a no-show.

Commission member answers mayor on charter statement. Story on page 5.

Kirschner and Spada provided little that was controversial. Kirschner baited Spada with allegations of overstaffing and mismanagement but Spada refused to bite. In the end they used their rebuttal time to urge the voters to elect the best man.

Mayor and alderman-at-large was something different, however.

All six candidates were on board: Francis R. Koenig (Democrat incumbent), William K. Darling (Republican) and Bernard Singer (Conservative) for mayor and T. Robert Gallo (Democrat incumbent), Emily Johnson (Republican) and Roberta Kolts (Conservative) for alderman-at-large.

The format was for each candidate to speak for seven minutes. Rebuttals of three minutes each were allowed. That was followed by questions from a rather sparse audience of about 125 persons, many of them candidates and/or city workers. Walter Donaruma of WHITA introduced the candidates and Harry M. Thayer acted as moderator.

The pattern for what proved to be a heated exchange was established with the first speaker, Mrs. Johnson, who after giving a brief review of her background, immediately went on the attack against the incumbent Democrats.

"I'm here to offer you a change," she said. "It's time for a change ... from mismanagement and government in crisis. Government by crisis costs us money."

Mrs. Kolts argued along the same lines. She accused Koenig and Gallo of what amounted to planned crisis "so that the mayor can come along on his white and very expensive steed." She referred to the old city hall on Broadway as "a monument of Koenig and Gallo's administrative talent."

Mrs. Kolts, who defeated Gallo in a Conservative primary for the office she seeks last month, also attacked the incumbents on the rising cost of government. She said that the city budget had increased 66 percent during the mayor's terms of office (since January of 1970) while 149 more persons had been added to the city payroll. Koenig later pointed out that inflation in general had increased by 40.5 percent. He also blamed now federal/state programs for increases in employment.

Gallo, at first, did not respond directly to the allegations of Kolts and Johnson, preferring to detail the duties of his office and reiterating his record of open Common Council meetings "where no one has ever been denied the right to speak on any subject."

The scenario was repeated when the mayoral candidates had their turn.

Singer charged Koenig with "political opportunism" and challenged the mayor's taking credit for redevelopment in the city. Noting the mayor's advertisements that there were 14 vacant stores in the uptown area when he took office in 1970 Singer said, "In all honesty, how much credit can you take for this?"

Darling touched on many of the same themes as his running mate and several brought up by Singer/Kolts. "It has become painfully obvious that our present 'dynamic duo' at city hall must be replaced," he said.

Darling noted that he had brought 120 jobs to Kingston with the leasing of his H.F. King building on Broadway to an electronics firm. He attacked Koenig for investing in an out of town enterprise. Koenig later said that the reason he invested (in the city of Cohoes) was that it was a franchise arrangement and the franchise for Kingston had previously been granted.

Darling asserted that the number of city employees in the past ten years has increased from 225 to 500 while the city budget had gone from $2.5 million to just under $8.1 million.

Koenig, taking the podium after hearing his administration attacked for the better part of half an hour by four candidates, spoke forcefully of the accomplishments of his administration and the frustrations of dealing with federal and state bureaucrats.

"We have prepared to the Nth detail, plans and projects only to find that our applications which must for the most part be accepted and approved by higher government authorities have been bogged down by the far-famed bureaucracy so prevalent in the complicated federal and state procedures." He gave examples of the Esopus Creek Flood Control Project, the Dietz Stadium swimming pool complex, the North/South Arterial ($800,000 of which was built this year) and Community Development. To balance that, the mayor pointed to the widespread development in the city the past six years, especially in the uptown urban renewal area.

The question and answer period brought out the fact that Singer and Darling favor the new city charter but Koenig continues to oppose it. The mayor says it would be impossible to implement the charter by Jan. 1 if it is approved.

"The Board of Public Works' powers and duties will be to care for and maintain all municipally owned lands, buildings and equipment," Koenig said. "This would include all of the Water Department properties which the Public Works Department is not involved in now. There is no feasible way the board could be appraised of the properties of the Water Department that would come under their control."

"The administrative code would have to be adopted by the Common Council and there is no way it could be implemented in two months."

VOLUNTEERS IN GREENWOOD LAKE SEARCH

Two Sr. Citizens Drown As Tour Boat Capsizes

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UPI) — Two aged women were killed and 18 persons hospitalized after a cabin cruiser filled with sightseeing senior citizens toppled over in Greenwood Lake Wednesday.

State police have charged William Doig, 52, owner of the 28-foot "Americana" with two counts of second degree manslaughter and the Coast Guard has confirmed that today it too will investigate the accident on the 14-mile long lake which crosses the New York-New Jersey border about 35 miles northeast of New York City.

Trapped in the overturned boat for three hours until volunteer divers found them, 84-year-old Mary Jordan and 72-year-old Lydia Hoppe both of River Edge N.J., were declared dead at the scene.

This resort village had been the scene of the new River Edge Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons' first outing: a day-long bus trip for sightseeing and a lunch stop at the Breezy Point Inn, police said.

At the restaurant the group was apparently told about a scenic boat ride available for $2 a person, and with a group of friends also visiting here from Ozone Park, Queens, they boarded the red, white and blue Americana.

According to state police investigators, 20 passengers and crew members loaded the boat and "apparently the operator made some type of a fairly sharp turn. The people maybe all went to one side and the boat capsized."

About a dozen persons were on the bridge when it flipped over, troopers said.

Greenwood Lake Police Chief Andrew J. Margillo, whose men were the first to arrive at the scene, said he knew of no one in the village currently licensed to take tourists boating. Troopers said they were investigating whether Doig had a license to carry passengers.

They said they were also checking whether any life boats or life preservers were onboard. They confirmed, however, that none of the survivors or either of the victims wore life jackets.

Margillo said his men drove to the lake expecting only a "routine boat capsizing. We were told a few persons were in the water and area residents had already gone after the survivors in the water. It didn't look like a big thing at first."

A nearby boat and a rubber raft rescued most of the survivors and police called ambulances to take 18 to three different hospitals. Five were admitted overnight and the others were released after treatment for shock and exposure.

Some of the elderly had been in the cold water for nearly an hour.

"Many of them told us they hadn't been swimming in 20 years and suddenly found themselves swimming for their lives," a trooper said.

The boat was towed to shore and moored, overturned and mostly submerged.

Ford ... 'Don't Whine and Whimper'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House has stepped up its assault on Congress with a warning not to "whine and whimper" about President Ford's tax reduction and spending plan.

Treasury Secretary William Simon said Wednesday the battle lines being drawn between the White House and the Congress on fiscal policy narrowed to the "classic debate between freedom and socialism."

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald Nessen said the debate over spending and taxes was going to be a 1976 presidential campaign issue.

"The American people will make it an issue," he said.

Nessen said it is ridiculous for members of Congress to "whine and whimper" about the Ford program.

The President has asked Congress to adopt a $395 billion 1977 budget ceiling, $28 billion below projected spending. At the same time, the President called for a new tax reduction of $11 billion, $7 billion of that for businesses, and retention of the 1975 anti-recession individual income tax reductions for a total of $28 billion.

Nessen used

"silly," "nonsense" and "ridiculous" to describe Congressional reaction to the President's plan.

"The people have the right to spend their own money," Nessen said.

After all, he said, Congressmen "didn't hesitate ... to raise their own salaries — and damned fast."

At one point, Nessen went defensive: "People have written that the President doesn't have a vision or a plan for America. He does have a plan. This is his plan."

The President says he will not accept a major tax reduction without a dollar for dollar spending curb.

Congressmen called Ford's fiscal plan incomplete, "preposterous" and "irresponsible" because he failed to be specific about what programs were to be shelved or gutted in order to remain within his desired spending limits.

Congress has a budget committee which plans to set budget goals next spring. Congress also has a tax writing Ways and Means Committee already at work on tax legislation.

The Ways and Means Committee, headed by Al Ullman, D-Ore., agreed Wednesday to stop allowing deductions on individual income taxes for state and local taxes paid on automotive gasoline. Annually, this should result in an additional half billion dollars in revenues.

Ullman's committee decided to look more carefully at the President's tax reduction plan after Congress returns from its Columbus Day recess.

Grain Pact Moves, Oil Deal Stalls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A long-term agreement to send American grain to the Soviet Union appears to be wrapped up, according to government sources, but a matching deal to bring Russian oil to this country appears to be stalled.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard Bell and two others on the five-member U.S. negotiating team that has held nine days of discussion in Moscow were expected in Washington later today, indicating the main details of the grain arrangement were settled.

The leader of the delegation, Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs Charles Robinson, remained in Moscow and scheduled further talks today. It was believed those talks centered solely around the oil agreement.

While administration sources stressed Bell, who is in charge of international affairs and commodity programs, was returning without a "signed agreement," it appeared the delegation negotiated a long term grain deal.

Bell was expected to report to both President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger before any details were released.

The Ford administration has tied the lifting of a current embargo on grain shipments to the Soviet Union to agreement on long-term grain sale conditions.

Administration sources indicated there is trouble with the terms of the oil deal. The Russians, they said, apparently either want too much money for the fuel or are objecting to tying the oil and grain settlements so closely together.

The administration has made it clear the two trade arrangements, although they may be on separate pieces of paper, were intended to work together.

One would involve an American commitment to supply the Soviets, presumably over five years, with a minimum amount of grain at set prices, thus avoiding price fluctuations on the American market. President Ford said Tuesday during a Knoxville, Tenn., news conference this sort of arrangement would be in the best interest of both the farmer and the consumer.

But Ford left the impression that in return he wants assurance the United States would get Soviet oil for its wheat.

Even if an oil trade agreement is achieved, the amount of fuel involved would not be enough to take up the slack if the OPEC nations again impose an oil embargo.

A Mouthful

Sign on the side of the ticket machine at the Ulster County Courthouse parking lot seems to indicate there are a few people around with mighty big mouths. It's not the machine, though, that parkers are being asked to refrain from clamping in their teeth—it's the ticket. Parking attendants find the slimy or lipstick stained tickets they're handed somewhat untouchable ... and a bit distasteful. (Freeman photo)

Attorney Answers Stamp Charge

KINGSTON Food stamp applications were personally delivered to migrant apple pickers in New Paltz and Marlboro by the Ulster County Department of Social Services, according to Kingston Attorney Richard Griggs who is representing the department in a $225,000 suit brought against the county by nine migrants.

The migrants who are unnamed in the suit, are being represented by a federally-funded agency called Mid-Hudson Valley Legal Service Project with offices in Poughkeepsie and Middletown. The agency claims the county did not inform the migrants of their rights and refused to "properly issue" food stamps.

Named in the action are Social Services Commissioner Bernhardt S. Kramer, Alan Coles, director of Ulster County Data Processing; Evelyn Weiner, social services director and state welfare and food stamp officials.

Griggs said that the county received a call from the Mid-Hudson agency claiming that about 13 migrant workers were starving to death, that they were not issued food stamps and that they couldn't travel to the county building. He said that Coles claimed that his data processing center had about 4,000 items to be processed ahead of the migrant's authorization to purchase food stamp cards. Consequently Kramer's office had the cards hand-processed in the county building and personally delivered to the food stamp recipients in New Paltz and Marlboro. When the cards were delivered, Griggs said one migrant was "being paid $189 for his week's work."

The suit is being brought in Manhattan with the agency charging that the migrants had to wait several weeks to get food stamp authorizations instead of the 24-hour service they are entitled to. Ulster County is also faulted for not having an effective "outreach program" which seeks out food stamp candidates through personal contact and advertising.

Plan Bicentennial Grants

KINGSTON Mini-grants of $50 to $500 for Bicentennial projects in Ulster County were announced Wednesday by Kingston Trust Company President William Stevens at a luncheon held at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Stevens explained that the grants would go to local non-profit groups such as scouts, garden clubs and service clubs whose Bicentennial projects require financial support.

"It's stimulating. It reaches out and touches the entire community," Stevens said, adding that "the program is Kingston Trust's way of celebrating our nation's Bicentennial."

Stevens said that "while there is an important role for major area-wide projects of a highly capitalized nature, it has come to the bank's attention that various organization's in the area just have not been able to get their plans off the ground due to lack of funds. These are the groups we want to help," Stevens said.

Kingston Trust is sponsoring three programs in connection with the Bicentennial—the grant, a performance at the Community Theatre, June 15, featuring "Up With People" and recognition of outstanding citizens in the community and public servants.

At the luncheon, which was attended by community leaders in the county, area governmental officials and representatives of the media, Stevens introduced a specially appointed grant advisory board which will assist in selection of grant recipients. Its members, all of whom are serving voluntarily, are: Edward Levine, chairman, Kingston Bicentennial Commission; Alice Schoonmaker, chairman, Town of Rochester Bicentennial Committee and Robert Stubbs, director, Kingston and Ulster County YMCA.

Applications for grants must be received by Dec. 1. They will be considered as they are received, however, and grants will be awarded as projects are approved by the grant advisory board.

Bridge Issue Again

Closing of the Traver Hollow bridge was again the major topic of discussion at Tuesday night's meeting of the Olive Town Board.

Councilman Peter Tosi revealed that he had received a detailed report from Abraham Gutman, assistant commissioner of the New York City Department of Environmental Resources, saying that condition surveys of the bridge are under way. If preliminary investigation warrants, the bridge will be opened for one-way traffic as an interim measure, but if the bridge proves structurally unsound it will remain closed, Gutman said. The final report is expected about March 12, 1976.

The board approved Councilman Donald Beesmer's motion to meet with the town attorney to explore the possibility of legal action against New York City, which is responsible for the bridge. Superintendent of Highways Marcel Maier will be asked to plan an alternate route and estimate its construction cost.

Councilman Herbert Wells, chairman of the Constable Committee, was authorized to advertise for bids on a new town patrol car, which will be paid for with revenue sharing funds.

William Allison of Broadhead, Lloyd G. Humphrey of Boiceville, and John L. Jaxheimer of Olivebridge were approved for constable posts on Wells' recommendation.

Sought by Police

State police have released this artist's drawing of a man they say is wanted for the attempted armed robbery of a Kingston Ramada Inn guest Sept. 11. The man was armed with a sawed-off shotgun which was fired, narrowly missing the victim, at the time of the incident. The suspect is a black man, 25 to 30 years old, about 140 pounds, and 5 feet 5. Anyone with possible information about the suspect is asked to call Hurley State Police at 338-1702.

Talks to Grand Jury

Anthony J. Zerilli the jailed son of the reputed gangland godfather of Detroit, left a prison cell on Wednesday for a 66-minute appearance before a grand jury probing the disappearance of former Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa. Zerilli, 47, has been imprisoned at the Federal Penitentiary at Sandstone, Minn., since April, more than three months before Hoffa's disappearance. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five big city police chiefs have urged Congress to take strong measures to control handguns including banning their manufacture and sale.

But the Senate's leading advocate of gun control legislation said their proposals were politically unrealistic and they would have to accept compromises.

Peter Pitchess, sheriff of Los Angeles County, told the Senate Government Operations Committee Wednesday that Congress' failure to pass strong handgun legislation had become "a national disgrace."

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., a leading mover of handgun legislation, said, however, there was little chance Congress would enact a sweeping ban on handguns and urged the police chiefs to support some kind of compromise legislation. Javits' own gun control bill would ban handguns in major metropolitan areas and establish a nationwide gun registration program.

Pitchess said the police chiefs opposed gun registration or licensing as "totally unenforceable and entirely too expensive."

Replied Javits: "We're not going to get what you want for a long time, so at least help us to do what is possible."

H. Stewart Knight, director of the U.S. Secret Service, told the committee stricter gun control "would go a long way" toward improving presidential security.

"Any formula to keep handguns out of the hands of the mentally unstable would not solve all of our problems," Knight said, "but it would go a long way."

Chief Robert Digrazia of Boston, as did most of the other chiefs, called for a total ban on the manufacture, sale and private possession of handguns.

He urged President Ford to call a domestic SALT — "Save American Lives Today" — conference to deal with the gun control issue.

Newark Police Chief Hubert Williams told the committee that, "If we can't have a bill of substance, then I say let's have no bill at all."

Chief Reginald Eaves of Atlanta said, "This is no longer a question of whether but how long we are going to continue these armed murders."

Chief Edward Peters of San Antonio said that "total abolition of guns is unacceptable in Texas," and urged that the problem be tackled on the federal level.

'Proposals Politically Unrealistic'...Sen. Javits

Police Chiefs Urge Strong Gun Control Measures

Priest Takes the Initiative

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Rev. Richard Engle is asking parishioners of his St. Philip The Apostle Church to turn in their handguns at Sunday's church services. He even wants the children to turn in their toy pistols.

Cartons will be placed at the Communion railing so parishioners can deposit their unloaded weapons, which will be melted down by a Columbus steel company.

Last week, the church bulletin carried a full-page announcement of the "Not Hands Up — Not Hands Off — But Hands In" program.

Engle said he would make the first offering at Communion of his own .22-caliber target pistol.

"Somebody has to start somewhere," said Engle, 50. He said the handgun that is bought for protection is more dangerous than no protection.

"I am doing this because of the two recent attempts against the life of the President," said the former World War II infantryman. "I'm amazed at the lack of opposition so far."

Engle said several members of his parish already have turned in their weapons.

"I support the legitimate and proper use of rifles and shotguns for hunting and recreational purposes, but I think we ought to eliminate the criminal and deadly misuse of handguns, which caused 28,000 deaths in 1973."

"Handguns account for 53 per cent of all murders, but make up only 20 per cent of all firearms. The problem is growing," he added.

The Columbus Diocese has taken no position on Engle's project.

Was Patty Kidnaped as Trade Bait?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst was kidnaped as trade bait, not as a potential convert to radicalism, a Symbionese Liberation Front manifesto says.

The document, found in the San Francisco apartment of William and Emily Harris, said the SLA abducted the newspaper heiress in hopes of swapping her for two SLA members jailed on charges of killing a school superintendent.

The kidnapers never asked for the release of Russell Little and Joseph Remiro because publisher Randolph Hearst's handling of a $2 million free food giveaway showed "he had decided to gamble with his daughter's life," according to copyrighted excerpts from the document published in Hearst's San Francisco Examiner.

Federal prosecutors and the FBI strongly criticized "the leak" and said their offices did not provide the document to the Examiner. Charles Bates, agent in charge of the San Francisco FBI office, heatedly denied the Hearst family had special access to the material. It had been found in the Harris' "safehouse."

"We don't want to do anything to harm the prosecution of this case," Bates said.

scriptions of the Feb. 4, 1974, kidnaping and the reasons for it.

"We didn't have any doubt that the Hearst family could arrange for a release for Osceola (Little) and Bo (Remiro) but we needed to test whether the pressure of their daughter's kidnaping would be enough to put this power in operation," it said.

"We were all f— p— off that the pigs had our two brothers and we all made a commitment at that time to come back strong. One of the objectives of the kidnaping was to test how much bargaining power we needed to get our comrades released."

The SLA changed its mind after the food giveaway because Hearst "couldn't even meet the simple demands to get his daughter back," said the document, which was written in several different hands.

"Hearst offered a few crumbs of food to some of California's poor people and expected everyone to sympathize with him. Actually, he had decided to gamble with his daughter's life in an attempt to keep the masses of people ignorant of his total wealth and power."

Little and Remiro were convicted during a lengthy trial in Sacramento, Calif., this spring of murder in the shooting death of Oakland School Superintendent Marcus Foster.

UFO People... 'Happy and Safe'

United Press International

Telephone calls indicate the missing persons who followed a mysterious couple to a secret training ground for a UFO flight to eternity were in California or the Midwest.

Wherever they are, the callers said Wednesday they are safe and happy.

Callers who identified themselves as parents of Robert Rubin, 24, of Brooklyn, who took up residence in the wooded hills of the Oregon coast about three years ago, told WPIX television in New York City that Rubin had called them.

They said he reported all the missing persons were safe and somewhere in the Midwest. Rubin is one of the 15 to 20 persons who disappeared from Oregon after a middle-age couple held a meeting at Waldport, Ore., Sept. 14 urging followers to prepare to be taken to a better life on another planet.

Tom Becker, operator of radio station KNPT, Newport, Ore., in the county where the furor started, said he received a telephone call from one of the group reporting "they are all happy."

He said he agreed not to identify the caller or the location of the group. Melvin Gibson, criminal investigator for the Oregon State Police at Newport, said there is no way to verify that the caller was who he claimed to be.

In San Francisco, Jim Eason, talk show host for radio station

KGO, said he got a collect call from Ukiah, Calif., from a man who called himself "Zalar."

"Zalar" said a group of 87 persons is in Northern California after the return of 17 from Colorado as a result of publicity. Several persons had received mail from the missing with Colorado postmarks.

"Zalar" said all the persons who joined had done so voluntarily and are true believers. He said they are not giving money to him and are not required to give up their children.

At Newport, however, Gibson said officers had confirmed that one young couple, Ron and Judy Greenberg, had left their year-old son, Noah, and 3-year-old daughter, Jenna, with JoAnn Burrell after signing an assignment of guardianship. Miss Burrell said she wanted to join the group but "I couldn't leave my son." She said to join the group she would have had to leave her child behind.

In Colorado, Dorothy O'Donnell, Grand Junction, told the Grand Junction Sentinel she had camped in Colorado National Monument Sept. 20-22 next to a large group from Oregon.

She said the group "read the Bible at night a lot" and one woman kept wandering into her camp looking "like her mind was half shot" and saying she had given away her baby before leaving Oregon.

Legislators Want State, Federal Welfare Action

KINGSTON
When Ulster County legislators voted Tuesday night to pay an additional $200,000 to meet a welfare budget deficit for 1975, the county board also endorsed a 12-point welfare reform proposal aimed at the state and federal government.

The amended budget passed with three votes in the negative—Eugene Houck (D-Dist.7), Eugene Perry (D-City) and Glenn Debrosky (R-Dist.6).

The board previously deferred approving the appropriation but Social Services Commissioner Bernhardt S. Kramer predicted the aid to dependent children budget would be depleted by November before another legislature meeting would be held.

While the legislators approved the additional funds it was not without grave concern for the future.

Majority Leader Ernest J. Gardner (R-Dist.5), chairman of the Social Services Committee said that local government has been forced to the brink of bankruptcy by skyrocketing welfare costs resulting from massive, uncontrollable and often impossible to justify federally mandated public welfare programs.

He said "there presently exists a chaotic proliferation of uncoordinated, ineffective and overly expensive welfare programs emanating from a federal and state bureaucratic philosophy that believes more is better..."

Feeling that the federal and state governments should assign first priority to welfare reform, the legislature proposed 12 reform measures as follows:

- A study should be conducted to assess the fiscal impact on counties if they withdraw from the federal welfare system and go it alone without the mandates which drive welfare expenditures up.

- Amend the present federal work incentive allowance to provide that aid to dependent children's mother's gross earned income and public assistance payments combined cannot exceed the state's established income level for a comparable size family.

- Repeal the 10 percent federal limitation on restricted payments in aid to dependent children cases. The complex formula reportedly denies counties and states federal reimbursement when shelter and utilities are paid directly to the provider as a result of the recipient's mismanagement or misappropriation of cash assistance. The local legislators contend the 10 percent limitation imposes a gross unfair penalty on localities and the state for insuring that providers of services to recipients are paid.

- Impose and immediate moratorium on the implementation of any new federally mandated programs.

- Assign able-bodied recipients to public work relief projects in municipalities and for other non-profit public service organizations.

- Have the federal government fully finance all medical costs to those supplementary income cases (SSI) which became active after Jan. 1, 1974. Ulster legislators claim that there has been a tremendous increase in SSI cases whose Medicaid expenses the counties are obliged to pay and which in turn grossly increases local medical expenses for above the 1973 hold harmless level.

- Eliminate the separation of services administrative structure and replace it with the previous client-case-worker concept. Under the present system it is felt that the almost total absence of a responsive and consistent source of contact between the recipient and staff has seriously weakened management of cases.

- Establish a temporary state commission to amend programs contributing to unnecessary expenditures.

- Place more severe sanctions on those refusing to work. Specifically any employable person who willfully terminates employment or intentionally reduces his or her earning capacity should not qualify for welfare payments.

- Terminate public assistance payments to recipients when it is determined that an individual no longer qualifies for benefits.

- Have the Medicaid program completely administered by either the Social Services Department of State Health Department. The legislators feel that presently there is virtually no organized, unified state system for Medicaid program monitoring, from the standpoint of either costs or quality care.

FOR VENEREAL DISEASE

- Replace cash assistance for rent and utilities with voucher payments (proof of payment). The Social Services Committee felt the present welfare system encourages continued dependency by making generous unrestricted cash benefits available.

Ulster welfare and county officials will attend a 12-county welfare caucus Oct. 14 in Poughkeepsie which state and federal legislators are expected to attend.

Ulster officials will also meet Oct. 17 in Goshen with Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) to discuss welfare reform further.

Police Officer Is Indicted

NEW YORK (UPI) - A police officer has been indicted for murder for allegedly beating a handcuffed prisoner to death with his fists and nightstick.

Three other officers were charged with brutally assaulting a friend of the dead man.

An indictment handed up by a Bronx grand jury Wednesday charged Officer Thomas Ryan, 26, a five-year veteran of the force, with murder in the death last June 14 of Israel Rodriguez, 23.

Bronx District Attorney Mario Merola said that when police responded to a report of a burglary in Rodriguez's building in the Bronx, they seized Luis Santiago, 22, and two others outside the building and charged them with possession of two handguns.

Merola said Ryan took the handcuffed Santiago to Rodriguez's apartment, where Santiago reportedly visited, and banged on the door.

A shot was fired through the door, Merola said, and after other officers were called, Rodriguez "held out his empty hands and surrendered."

Merola said Ryan and two other officers then "beat, kicked and otherwise assaulted Rodriguez even though they had handcuffed him from behind. At one point, his head was rammed into a sink, and at another into a stove."

He said Ryan and three other officers, Patrick Halligan, 28, Dennis Greene, 31, and Joseph Chinea, 26, took Santiago to the roof and beat him "to the point where his jaw was fractured, exposing the bone through the flesh. He was taken to the edge of the roof where, still beating him, they threatened to throw him off."

According to the indictments, Santiago and Rodriguez were taken to the 11th precinct where Santiago was hit with a chair while "Ryan took Rodriguez into a corner and beat him again in the second floor detective's squad room."

It was charged that "after repeated beatings, lasting about an hour, both Rodriguez and Santiago were thrown into a cell where they lay moaning and bleeding" until an officer not involved in the incident called an ambulance.

Rodriguez died a few hours later of internal bleeding at Morrisania Hospital.

The officers were suspended without pay. They all pleaded innocent at arraignment in Supreme Court. Ryan was freed on $7,500 bail and the others on their own recognizance for a Dec. 10 hearing.

Regan Resigns Post, Doesn't Like Trends

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) - Paul J. Regan is resigning after 15 years on the State Board of Parole, the last five as chairman, and he doesn't like some of the trends he sees in the parole field.

Regan, 68, of Watertown told UPI Wednesday that during his tenure the board has been trimmed of its staff of 600 parole officers and field staff and currently has only a handful of clerks and central office personnel.

"I'm not adverse to change," Regan said, "but, my point is that for 10 years the Division of Parole did a tremendous job."

The major shift came in 1970 when then Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald successfully sought to have most of parole's staff of field and institutional officers moved to the corrections department.

Prior to those changes, Regan said, "Parole served as a watchdog to check and balance for corrections."

A veteran of 33 years of public service and 33 years in corrections, Regan said many of the board's responsibilities which have now been phased out were created after a 1930 report on a parole scandal which involved inmates at several state prisons.

Regan acknowledged that inmate tensions were currently running high in the state's prison system, but rejected suggestions by some corrections officials that more lenient parole standards could solve an overcrowding problem.

Regan said the board now granted the parole requests of 65 percent of the inmates coming before it on initial appearance.

He said inmates have the right to challenge board decisions, but "Only 5 percent request legal counsel and if that small a percent ask for an attorney we must be doing a pretty good job."

Former Lloyd Inspector Is Arraigned

By Matt Spireng

KINGSTON Basil Raucci, former Town of Lloyd zoning inspector and currently an assessor in the Town of Hyde Park was arraigned in Ulster County Court Wednesday on two counts of official misconduct stemming from alleged action while a Lloyd official in 1973. According to First Assistant District Attorney Michael Kavanagh, Raucci and three other persons purchased a parcel of land in Highland in March, 1972 for $17,500. In May of 1973, Raucci, while zoning inspector, and his three partners allegedly sold about one-third of the original parcel to the Grand Union company for $35,000. At the time of the sale, Raucci allegedly represented to Grand Union that the property was zoned commercial, although the property was, in fact, zoned residential. Kavanagh said. Grand Union erected a commercial structure on the site.

Raucci had been charged with the two misdemeanor counts of official misconduct in a sealed indictment opened in county court Wednesday. He appeared in court voluntarily.

During arraignment before County Judge Raymond J. Mino, Raucci entered a plea of innocent and was released in his own recognizance pending further court action. He was represented by the law firm of Joseph P. Torraca.

Raucci, a Highland resident, was first appointed zoning inspector in the Town of Lloyd on Jan. 1, 1970. On Oct. 1, 1971 he was also appointed Town of Lloyd assessor and held the two positions until Jan. 1, 1974, when a new zoning inspector was appointed. He remained as town assessor until Feb. 1, 1975, when he resigned and was appointed assessor in the Dutchess County Town of Hyde Park, a post he still holds.

Meanwhile, in other matters in county court Wednesday: Ernest Yerry, 19, of Kingston was sentenced to five years probation on a charge of third degree robbery. Noting that the pre-sentence report by the probation department indicated an apparent pattern of dependence, Judge Mino ordered Yerry to enter a drug rehabilitation center as a condition of probation.

The charge stemmed from a June 12 robbery at the Convenient Food Mart at 360 Broadway. According to reports at the time of Yerry's arrest, two weeks after the robbery, he allegedly entered the store, brandished a revolver and fled with some $800. Yerry was represented by attorney Charles Saccoman.

Vincent Kime, 24, of Saugerties was sentenced to three years probation on a charge of third degree assault stemming from an alleged 1973 assault in Saugerties, with the condition set that he continue at his current job. Kime was represented by attorney Louis Francello.

Francis Ross Carey, 21, of Kingston pleaded guilty to third degree burglary in connection with an alleged January break-in at Remus Wholesale Co., 55 Furnace Street. Sentencing was put over until Oct. 22. Attorney Aaron Klein represented Carey.

Police Arrest City Man

By Matt Spireng

KINGSTON An investigation by state police undercover narcotics agents has resulted in the arrest of a young Kingston man in connection with the alleged sale of heroin on a charge which carries a mandatory life prison sentence upon conviction.

Lewis W. Rucker, Jr., 25, of 22 Stuyvesant Street, Kingston was arrested late Tuesday on charges of third degree criminal sale of a controlled substance and sixth degree criminal possession of a controlled substance.

The alleged sale occurred several months ago during the course of the lengthy investigation, according to authorities.

Rucker has also been charged on 1972 warrants by Kingston Police with possession of a dangerous weapon, third degree assault and violation of probation.

The charge of third degree drug sale carries a minimum prison sentence of one year to life and a maximum sentence of eight and one-third years to life upon conviction.

Rucker is being held in the Ulster County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Police Beat

Meanwhile, in other area police matters:

A young Shokan man was seriously injured Wednesday in a motorcycle crash on the Route 28-Thruway traffic circle near Kingston.

Hurley State Police said Richard Nissen, 22, of Dubois Road, Shokan, ran off the right side of the road on the traffic circle and slammed into a guard rail. Nissen was thrown off the motorcycle, over the guard rail and down an embankment.

Taken to Kingston Hospital, Nissen was listed in serious condition today in the intensive care unit.

Rhinebeck State Police investigated a crash Wednesday morning on Route 9G which sent Laura Canora, 32, of Highland to Northern Dutchess Hospital.

Police said Mrs. Canora was going north on Route 9G when a car operated by Joyce Leson of 19 Dubois Avenue, Poughkeepsie, pulled out partially onto the road. Mrs. Canora swerved and avoided collision with the Leson auto, police said, but over-corrected and her car ran into a drainage ditch and overturned.

Mrs. Canora was listed in fair condition at the hospital today. Police charge the Leson woman with failure to yield the right of way.

GOP Opens

PORT EWEN

The Town of Esopus Republican Headquarters will be officially opened Friday, Oct. 10, at 6:30 p.m. with county GOP chairman Albert Spada and Joseph Sills, the Republican and Conservative candidate for town supervisor, participating in ribbon cutting ceremonies.

The public is invited to attend the opening ceremonies at the GOP headquarters at Beichert's Garage, Broadway, Port Ewen, according to town GOP chairman Sol Rosenthal.

Charter Statement Answered

KINGSTON Bernard G. Matthews, a member of the Kingston Charter Revision Commission, has replied to a statement by Mayor Francis R. Koenig at Wednesday night's candidates' meeting sponsored by WHITA at George Washington School.

"Contrary to the mayor's statement that there is no feasible way to implement the administrative code and public works functions of the proposed charter by Jan. 1," Matthews said, "the charter provides for orderly transition of government and continuity of services."

There are few changes in the charter and the provision for centralized purchasing could be accomplished by an executive directive from the mayor, since he is already president of most policy boards, Matthews maintains, "yet he allows these departments to advertise for separate bids and make separate purchases at an increased cost to taxpayers."

Matthews said that the charter allows local laws and ordinances already in effect to remain in effect unless they are in specific conflict with the proposed charter.

"The feasibility of implementing the functions of the public works or any other department is directly related to the mayor's leadership role," Matthews said.

"I find his statement evidence of a lack of knowledge and understanding of the proposed charter and further evidence of his reacting to the pressures of city officials and employees rather than responding to the recommendations of taxpayers and the Charter Revision Commission. It would seem advisable for the mayor to recognize the apparent wishes of the taxpayers."

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

'Just Rights':

Thomas Jefferson of Virginia: "My first wish is a restoration of our just rights; my second, a return of the happy period, when... I may withdraw myself totally from the public stage, and pass the rest of my days in domestic ease and tranquility, banishing every desire of ever hearing what passes in the world."

Call for Action

The county legislature, acting under the severity of the Ulster's welfare emergency, voted to authorize an additional $200,000 injection into the 1975 budget for Aid to Dependent Children (ADC). Thus ended a two month "revolt" by the legislators when they took no action on a call for additional monies by Social Services Commissioner Berhardt Kramer, whose department was running out of money.

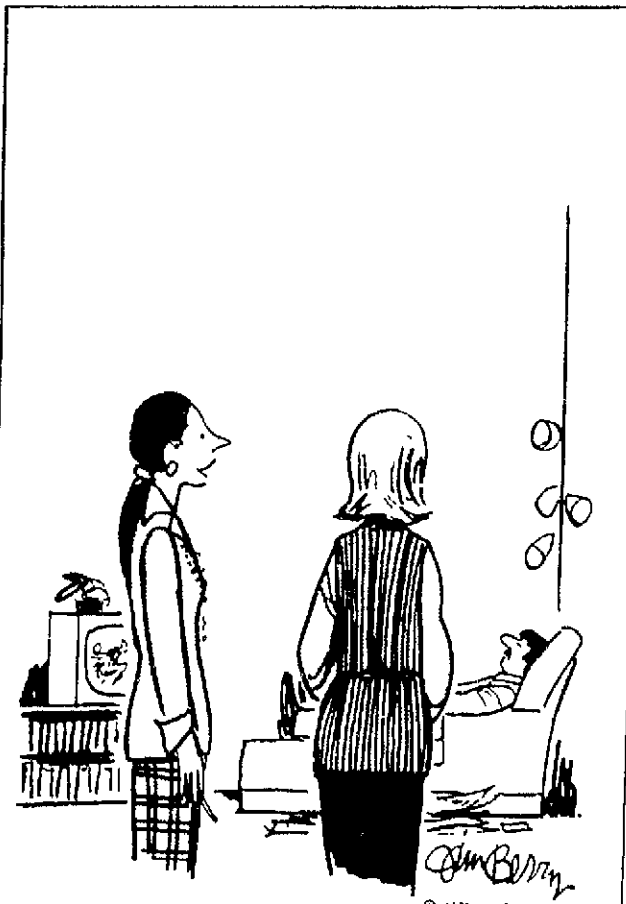

That our lawmakers were forced to take this economically burdensome step is understandable since it was dictated by the excessive welfare load that this and our neighboring counties are saddled with. However, the legislature, now forced to take action on a burgeoning problem that threatens to sink us all, voted resoundingly to immediately initiate an all-encompassing reform program to help ease our welfare problems.

Among the reforms suggested were sanctions against recipients who refuse work; an immediate moratorium on any more federally mandated programs; implementing the voucher system in lieu of cash payments for rent and utilities; and the assignment of able-bodied ADC clients to public work projects. One of the most interesting and innovative proposals made at the meeting was for the county to undertake a study of what the fiscal impact would be if Ulster decided to go it alone, withdrawing from the federal welfare program with its unrealistic mandates, and setting the county's own guidelines.

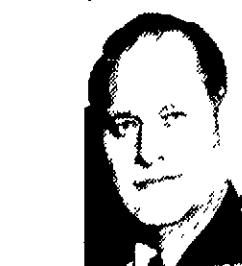

Dr. Gerald Gorman was the lone dissenter to the reform package, also for very sound reasons. Dr. Gorman, perceiving that a helter-skelter patchwork type of approach is not going to work, wanted the legislators to go farther and call for a federal takeover of the entire social services system in order to attain standardization throughout the 50 states. Many others across the nation have issued the same call and expectedly it is a course this country will have to take in order to solve this enormous problem.

However, for now a shoring up of the leaks on a local level must be undertaken. If the complaints of the legislators that officials both on a state and federal level are "naive" and uninformed about the unfairness of the present welfare system are true, then a call should be issued immediately that a series of high level planning meeting, be held to control this octopus before it strangles us all.

Berry's World

"He's a lot like Howard Hughes! We don't know for sure if he's alive or dead!"

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—Some 2,000 American firms, ranging from Ford Motors to small pet shops, have been blacklisted by the Arabs.

The boycott list, identifying allegedly pro-Zionist companies for economic retaliation, was prepared in Lebanon. It is considered more important than earlier lists, because a Lebanese heads the Arab boycott office in Damascus.

A similar list, provided to the Commerce Department by firms that actually were approached by the Arabs, is now the subject of a hot controversy on Capitol Hill.

Commerce Secretary Rogers Morton has refused to surrender the list to Congress, contending that the firms were promised confidentiality. Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., whose investigating committee has demanded the list, is considering whether to cite Morton for contempt.

The Lebanese list was approved Dec. 6, 1974, at a closed cabinet meeting in Beirut. Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., managed to get a copy and showed it to us.

Although this particular boycott list is treated with great gravity by Arab governments, it is curiously haphazard. For example, more than one insignificant pet store and a shoe repair firm are listed. Yet the United Jewish Appeal for the Film Industry has been removed from the list. Perhaps some Arab diplomat or petty sheikh didn't like the service when he stopped to buy a canary or get his shoes heeled.

Some Arab countries, such as Syria and Saudi Arabia, treat the boycott list as if it were taken from the Koran. But in Morocco, say, it is virtually ignored.

Some Arab officials, according to our sources, use the list to extort bribes. For a little "baksheesh," they can be persuaded to ignore the boycott.

Such firms as General Electric, Miles Laboratories, Trans World Airlines and the Hilton hotel chain are active in Israel. Yet they still manage to do business in the Arab world.

The 2,000 blacklisted firms cover every facet of U.S. business, with special emphasis on communications companies. Such firms as CBS, NBC, United Artists and Otto Preminger Films are on the list.

A number of liquor companies, led by Calvert and Seagrams, are also listed, although Arabs supposedly don't drink and, therefore, should have no need to import liquor.

The U.S. oil industry, predictably, has all but escaped the boycott. Other companies have been removed from the boycott list, including Kaiser Steel, General Paper, General Tire, Monsanto, RKO General and a Yugoslav sewing machine plant.

A few of the blacklisted organizations and products include: B'nai B'rith, Brush On Eye Shadow, Coca Cola, Connecticut Mutual Insurance, Hartz Mountain pet foods, Hertz, Knopf and Random House Books, Moon Drops, Laurance Rockefeller Associates, Republic Steel, Allstate Insurance, Bergdorf Goodman, Ronrico gold and white rum, Lazard Freres investments and Leeds Music.

Also Minkus stamps, Motorola, Playtex, Pratt and Whitney, Republic Pictures, Topps Chewing Gum, Xerox, Zenith Radio, Aetna Casualty, American Doll and Toy, American Electric Power, Beunitt Mills, Botany Mills, Bulova Watches, Fairbanks Morse, Golden Bear oil, Harry Winston jewelers, Helena Rubinstein (listed three times, with two misspellings), Israel Numismatic Service and Jewish War Veterans.

Footnote: About 99 out of every 100 blacklisted firms are American. But companies were also boycotted in Britain, Taiwan, Tanzania, Turkey, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

MAIL BAG: We received a letter last week from Lynett "Squeaky" Fromme, one of President Ford's would-be assassins. She wanted to be put in touch with Dr. John Gofman, a noted nuclear physicist, whose warnings against nuclear power development we had published. Squeaky sought some information from Dr. Gofman. "I would get it myself," she wrote, "but I am presently incarcerated in the Sacramento county jail."

—We reported last month that the FBI's computer center had been misused to hunt down non-criminals. One of the victims, Eric Staubes of Binghamton, N.Y., wrote to us about his experience. He was confronted with a computer printout 14 feet long. Police grilled him for six hours. He was wanted in two states, they charged, on 14 counts of auto theft. The claimed he had 40 aliases. It turned out that the supposedly foolproof computer system had fingered the wrong man. "Do you get the feeling Big Brother is watching?" Staubes asked us.

—A Denver man, who asked not to be identified, has sent us his correspondence with the Postal Service over a lost money order. Exasperated, he finally decided to file a class action suit and wrote the Justice Department for background information. The letter was returned to him, stamped "Unable to Locate," by the mailman.

"Now if we could just build a few more gadgets into him!"

On the Right

What Ronald Reagan Might Say

By William F. Buckley

LOS ANGELES—Dropping the name of Ronald Reagan as presidential contender against Gerald Ford in the primaries here and there in California produces less than electric results, even at congested gatherings of Republican conservatives. These folk are natural enthusiasts for Reagan, and, along with all Californians, beneficiaries of eight years of his governorship.

Their enthusiasm is in a sense geared to his own slowness. Why—they are already asking themselves—should they be more enthusiastic about his running than he is himself? Could it be, they wonder, that Reagan the party loyalist senses the dangers of division within Republican ranks? Oughtn't they, under the circumstances, to hold back their own feelings, until the concert master himself sounds the tuning fork?

It is even becoming fashionable to suggest that Reagan's apparent indecisiveness is an expression of his internal doubts about winning against Gerald Ford in the primaries. That, after all, was the reason for the unusual ambivalence of Senator Robert Kennedy during the fall of 1967, when the pressure was on him to challenge President Johnson.

There is this difference between 1967 and 1976. Then there was the one burning issue of Vietnam that divided the Democratic camp. Among Republicans there is no single issue of equal magnitude. The economy is slouching its way towards a recovery of sorts, and from the White House we are getting a reasonably palatable blend of orthodox economic rhetoric, and confessions of various sorts from the freependers. In foreign policy, the success of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in the Sinai appears to hold up, like the star on top of the Christmas tree, the intricate and glittering ball gown of detente; and although it could all come crashing down at any moment, that and the temporary reversals in Portugal give us a measure of international tranquility, and President Ford is the beneficiary.

What is it that separates President Ford from his right-wing constituency? What is it that Ronald Reagan, entering the primaries, might do to suggest an altered approach to government?

1. He might propose instant action on a Constitutional amendment barring busing for the sake of racial balance.

2. He might mobilize the people against any weakness (they are beginning to streak up from the horizon, and are summed up in talk of a 90 billion dollar deficit) in executive opposition to bailing out New York City. No one is better equipped than Reagan to expose the funny-money nature of all the schemes thus far devised for the purpose of making non-New Yorkers pay the bills of New Yorkers.

3. He might propose an audacious and radical approach to welfare reform. Let the federal government lay its hands off any state able to take care of itself: i.e., those states (approximately 33) which, as things now stand, are engaged in sending money to Washington for the purpose of readdressing it back to the originating state. There are reasons in philanthropy for taking money from New York to help out the people of Arkansas, but none for taking money from New York for the purpose of sending it back to New York. The problems of

New York City ought to be a family affair between Mayor Beame and Hugh Carey.

4. Beginning on January 1, the West should launch an intelligent program designed to weaken the political power of the OPEC cartel. No better plan has been proposed than a flexible tariff rate aimed at discouraging the flow of oil from those OPEC countries that profiteer the most from the cartel. It is easily reckoned how much higher than the market rate, freely arrived at, Saudi Arabia, for instance, is charging for its oil. Take the artificial hike, and slap on it a tariff of corresponding size. It would not be long before competition would be restored. Revenues collected could be used, in the short term, to subsidize the price of gas and fuel oil to the American consumer.

5. The grand energy program devised by Nelson Rockefeller should be re-examined with the view to debureaucratizing it. If there is enough money in the private sector to come forward under its own steam to capitalize the program, coax it out by declaring a moratorium on taxes on profits earned from the production of energy; provided 75 percent of them are reinvested in the search for energy.

A few suggestions concerning foreign policy will be forthcoming, in time for the New Hampshire primary.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Capitalism by the Chuckle

How better to express the ruling class ability to absorb the most awful affronts to its values and turn them to its own uses?

Another cartoon done years later shows a graffiti-covered wall on which are written such slogans as "NIXON ISN'T PERFECT BUT WHO IS?" "PATIENCE IS THE WATCHWORD IN DEALING WITH WHITE FOLKS." A very New Yorkerish couple are seen studying it as they exclaim, "Well I must say, this is a heartening change."

The attitude is of optimistic confidence. Don't arrest them, don't oppress them. Channel them into constructive slogans. That tincture of permissiveness is evident throughout the full span of the 50 years. Only the very, very rich are allowed to be angry, as with the Peter Arno cartoon of the flashing-eyed dowager in furs inviting her fellow moneybags to "Come along. We're going to the Trans-Lux to kiss Roosevelt."

One step down into the upper-middle class and they don't talk that way, as you can see if you contrast the dowager with the Helen Hinkson ladies-club chairman telling her bosomy members, "Of course, we must draw some sort of distinction between wishing to overthrow the government and not liking the present administration." Forty years later another New Yorker cartoonist has done a drawing of the clubwomen's daughters, now matronly themselves, passing pickets urging them to boycott lettuce and tomatoes. "Well, there goes lunch," one woman says to the other.

They adapt, they accommodate, they blunder and flub on encountering something new and at variance with their complacent assumptions and assured security. On mistakenly barging into the home of a poor American Indian family, our New Yorker tourist lady in the wide brim hat apologizes, "I beg your pardon! I thought you were extinct." The point is that, unlike their counterparts in some other countries, these ducks are capable of learning a little something.

They meet change with good-natured incredulity. She'll go along with it but the World War II-period young lady in the expensive, tailored suit has a hard time believing what's in the letter from her boy friend in the army so she asks, "Can they really make a Yale man a private?"

Later drawings in the book suggest that the concept of Yale-man-as-private has been accepted, but at the same time the upper-middle class's overall view of society hasn't changed so much. Many of the costumes and outward signs have but not the social order. By the end of the book the wealthy are less ostentatious and more informal, but the cartoon themes on lazy, panhandling bums, taxation and high church Anglican ministers in ecclesiastic robes braying orthodoxy same as at the start.

The second-half of the book sees the rise of the servant problem, but this must have been a good 50 years for them on balance. They retain their confidence and the feeling that all's right with the world save for minor exceptions such as woman shareholders asking questions at annual meetings. "This is the part of capitalism I hate," one director whispers to another in the cartoon.

Otherwise capitalism is hunky-dory. Having arrived unthreatened and amiable of disposition at the end of one half-century, it remains to be seen if they will keep their good humor in the next, but while we wait for that anthology to be compiled we can chuckle over this one.

Charges of 'Nepotism' Fill Air

KINGSTON
Charges of nepotism flew today as two Ulster County Legislators responded to press releases critical of their campaign tactics.

Legislator Richard D. Nace (R-Dist. 2) charged Legislator Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 6) with having "his family on the public payroll for years" while at the same time Klein attacked Civil Service Commissioner Frank Greco with "building a family empire through nepotism."

Nace was responding to Klein's criticism of what he termed unethical hiring practices in the county.

"If it is unethical to want to work a few extra hours a day after your regular day's work is done, to pay for your education and other things you cannot afford on your regular salary, then I guess my son was unethical in getting an extra job for a few months," Nace said.

"This extra job which Klein seems to think is denied to other people is mopping floors and cleaning restrooms for a couple of dollars an hour," Nace said, adding that the building superintendent "has a hard time keeping the jobs filled because unemployment and welfare checks are much higher for doing nothing!"

Nace said that as far as his son going to college at night, "He did, and I think the building superintendent and county auditor should sue Klein for even intimating that he was getting paid for this."

Regarding Klein's family, Nace claimed that "Klein should put thick shutters on his own windows before he throws stones at other people."

Nace contends that the Klein family has been on the public payroll for years with Klein as a legislator, his father as city corporation counsel, his mother was in the board of elections, his sister in the motor vehicle bureau and his brother-in-law in the highway department.

Klein on the other hand claims Greco "has succeeded in building a family empire through nepotism, whereby at least three members of his family are holding preferred positions within the government of Ulster County at the present time."

Klein claims Greco "owes our taxpayers far more than lip service. At a time when better than 12 percent of our county's citizens are unemployed, Greco is holding a position where he receives $14,000 a year for a few hours a day work," Klein said.

The Rosendale Democrat also accused Greco of being "a master of double talk, quite adept at using the practice of deceit to avoid the issues."

Klein takes issue with Greco's employment figures and his recent admission that Manpower employees were returned to clerical functions after service as welfare claim examiners.

Klein said that what Greco doesn't state is that "this bumping resulted for criticism of the county's exploitation of these workers by working them at a higher grade than that for which they were being paid. 'They could have and should have been removed from the manpower ranks and been made provisional welfare examiners, until the civil service test was given. This would have opened additional manpower positions to the public at large. But this wasn't done, in order to make political appointments. Were any of these new appointees related to Greco?" Klein asked

Poll Concerns Gardner

BOICEVILLE
County Legislator Ernest J. Gardner who is seeking reelection in new Dist. 5, continued to express concern this week over the "lack of information and inaccuracies his Democratic opponent Jack Kahn is displaying in recent press releases."

"Kahn's 18 questions about county government obviously failed to show the voters that he was qualified to seek the office of legislator and further revealed that he had no real issues to debate," Gardner said.

"Now he has resurrected from 1970 the aborted county charter as his issue, an issue that was put to rest because comparison with other counties, who embraced a charter, revealed the charter plan would have increased the county budget by millions," the majority leader explained.

"The County Charter was the subject of thorough review by the voters in the press and on the radio for more than four years and at more than a dozen public and information hearings held at various sites throughout the county. The proposed local law was defeated 25 to 4 with both Democrats and Republicans voting against due to the excessive costs expected," Gardner said.

"Obviously Kahn and his Democratic team can not come up with any fresh issues without increasing county taxes. We in Ulster County have an enviable record to maintain. Despite inflation and increased costs, county charges to the townships and the City of Kingston have been reduced five times in the past seven years without cutting services. Voters can easily compare this record with the plight of neighboring counties who have found it necessary to increase taxes year after year. This record in Ulster County has been possible due to sound fiscal policies and taking advantage of every state and federal matching funds program," he concluded.

Parole Officer Pusher?

HAVERSTRAW, (UPI) — A state parole officer was arrested and charged Wednesday night with selling marijuana to undercover agents, the Rockland County District Attorney said.

DA Kenneth Gribetz said Peter Schoen, 27, of Haverstraw, was arrested at his home by the DA's narcotics task force.

Force members, carrying a search warrant, recovered additional quantities of marijuana and three guns in Schoen's home, Gribetz said.

Schoen has been working for the state corrections department as a parole officer for the past five years and was assigned to the work release program at a Beacon facility.

Schoen is accused of selling $50 worth of marijuana to undercover officers on Sept. 22; $100 worth of marijuana on Sept. 25, and on Wednesday night an additional quantity to an unnamed individual.

He was charged with three counts of criminal sale of a controlled substance in the fifth degree.

Schoen was arraigned in Haverstraw Justice Court. Bail was set at $5,000. He was held at the Rockland County Jail in New City.

Saugerties LWV Plans 'Night'

SAUGERTIES — The Saugerties League of Women Voters will sponsor candidates' nights on Wednesday, Oct. 15, and Wednesday, Oct. 22, at the Saugerties High School cafeteria, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Carol Kunz, voters' service chairman, said that county candidates will be featured on Oct. 15 and town candidates on Oct. 22. All candidates on the Nov. 4 ballot have been invited.

This year LWV is returning to a question-and-answer format, which allows each candidate to give a brief prepared statement. Then, written questions from the audience will be addressed to specific candidates by the moderator.

A coffee hour after the program will give voters a chance to talk informally with the candidates.

Ford Says Plan Would Cut Fares, Airlines Disagree

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford says air fares would be cheaper under his plan to break the regulatory power of the Civil Aeronautics Board. But the airline industry challenged the proposal.

"For many Americans, air travel has become too expensive to afford," Ford said in a message to Congress Wednesday.

Ford says his reform legislation would mean lower air fares, the first true price competition between domestic airlines and an end to outmoded "protectionist" CAB rules set up in 1938.

The airline industry, with few exceptions, disagrees. Often hotly.

Administration officials say Ford's liberalized price rules and more open competition could reverse the upward spiral of air travel costs, possibly lowering fares an average 20 percent over the next five years.

Congress might pass the bill in as little as six or eight months, they say. But they also acknowledge that dire predictions voiced by the airlines might "scare the congress" into rejecting the President's reforms.

ALPA said the measure also would cost thousands of aviation jobs and might sharply reduce or eliminate airline service to "many communities and possibly entire states."

Similar responses came from Delta Airlines and the Air Transport Association.

One thing the airlines fear most is that increased price flexibility and freedom to open stroy the U.S. commercial air transportation industry as we know it" and cause higher — rather than lower — fares, the Air Line Pilots Association said.

In short, airlines do not trust one another outside a regulated, protective environment.

The President's bill would let the airlines cut ticket prices up to 40 percent over a two-year period or increase them by up to 10 percent without CAB approval.

It also would:

- Eliminate CAB powers to exempt airlines from anti-trust rules.
- Let airlines expand their routes 5-10 percent a year after 1981, serving whatever cities look profitable regardless of competing flights.
- Allow an airline to abandon unprofitable cities on 90 days' notice if there is service by another airline or after losing money for between three months and a year if no other airline serves the cities involved.
- End a CAB moratorium that has blocked new trunk airlines for 37 years and prevented most extensions of scheduled service since 1950.

School Agreement Reached

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tentative agreement has been reached between striking lay teachers and the Brooklyn Diocese, whose five Catholic schools in Brooklyn and Queens were hit by the strike five weeks ago.

Members of the Lay Faculty Association met Wednesday night at the Park restaurant in Queens, where they were to vote on the agreement. The LFA leadership recommended to its members that the contract be ratified.

A spokesman for the Diocese said no details of the pact were announced. He said both sides had accepted a compromise proposal developed by federal mediators Paul Yager and Samuel Hacker.

If the contract is ratified, the five schools will re-open Thursday, the spokesman said.

The five high schools which have been affected by the strike are Bishop Ford, St. Brendan's, Bishop Loughlin, all in Brooklyn; Mater Christi in Fresh Meadows, and Christ the King, in Astoria, Queens.

Because negotiations were stalled, Bishop Loughlin and Christ the King were closed on Monday to all students but seniors.

The spokesman said freshmen, sophomores and juniors who were transferred to other schools will be invited back to their schools.

Of the 274 lay teachers and 90 priests, sisters and brothers teaching at the five schools, approximately 160 lay teach-

Strike Unsettled

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first negotiations in four days between striking musicians and Broadway producers recessed early today after the union reported turning down a proposal that would have cut the number of musicians mandated on production payrolls.

A spokesman for Local 802, American Federation of Musicians, said negotiations would resume later today.

The spokesman said the League of New York Theaters and Producers "made a proposition which was unacceptable. They wanted to cut 34 men at the major houses."

The major stumbling block in the dispute is the question of minimum orchestra size and the issue of "walkers" — musicians who are paid although not playing because a minimum number of musicians at each theater are mandated by contract.

The musicians, who now earn a minimum of $290 a week, have reportedly agreed with management on a $90 a week wage increase spread over three years.

The strike, which has closed nine musicals and prevented three others from opening, went into its fourth week today.

The latest round of talks were held at the Americana Hotel under auspices of Vincent McDonnell, chairman of the State Mediation Board.

The union rejected a request by sister unions that they be allowed to sit in on the talks as "fact finders." The idea was presented by a three-man committee representing most of the theatrical unions in the city.

The negotiating session was the first since talks which began last Saturday and ended in the early morning hours of Sunday.

Bail Out

Editor, The Freeman.

I note with a great deal of interest a movement on the part of some well meaning but misguided individuals and organizations to continue to bail New York City out of its financial predicament. We should not allow this to happen! Just as those who continue to accept welfare find that the incentive to get off the dole is removed—so the New York City fathers will make little effort to get out of their spending habits if the state or the nation keeps providing funds to keep them solvent.

Those creditors who find themselves owed considerable sums by New York City could work out some moratorium on the debt so that serious austerity programs could be put into effect and eventually result in full payment on the obligations.

The politicians who created this mess must be made accountable in some way so that similar situations could be avoided in the future. Public office is a public trust and those who prove deficient in this trust should be penalized with fines, jail sentences, or some other form of punishment. The responsibility that they have accepted should not be allowed to be dismissed with a shrug of the shoulders.

If we continue to bail out the political opportunists or misfits we will find that the state and/or the nation will soon be in the same boat. The rights of the people should get first priority for a change.

Sincerely yours
BERNIE SINGER
Kingston

Campaigns

Editor, The Freeman:

It is fast approaching the time when the political mud starts to be thrown around.

I.e. — When voting for the Conservative nomination for Mayor and alderman-at-large was held, there became an immediate hassle and name, calling and public apologies were asked for.

Candidate for Mayor, W. Darling, ran an ad in Sunday's Freeman depicting the present government, as well as, the voters as monkeys. Again apologies were asked for by the present Mayor.

Now, I ask you, aren't there enough subjects for candidates to take issue on other than belittling opponents? By doing this, the voter becomes so confused or irritated with all candidates, that come election day, they relinquish one of the few guaranteed rights they still possess and that is voting.

I would like to see a candidate really look into unemployment, lack of industry or the enticing of industry into the Kingston area.

The people on welfare, could they be utilized in city projects that would enhance the beauty of the city? After he has looked into them to present some solid facts; and if elected, pursue them to the best of his ability.

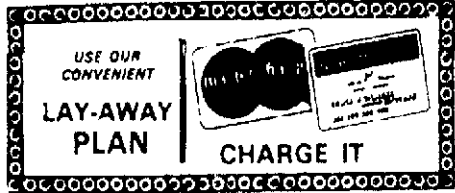

I'm sure if a candidate really had sincere intentions rather than seek the title and go stagnant and implement these ideas rather than "throw mud" at other candidates, I'm sure voter turn out would increase.

This type of campaigning is prevalent on all levels. Look at New York City. Mayor Beame was Comptroller under Lindsay and Carey. He had to know of the fiscal fiasco, they were headed for, and now that he is Mayor, he is squirming. Now Carey is not only governor of New York State but a behind the scenes mayor of the Big Apple. Isn't this what he was after originally? Now, the residents of New York State are going to be asked, through higher taxes, to bail out the Apple and pay for the iniquities. Where does it all end?

Temple Emanuel

Jill Neporent, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Neporent, will conduct the Bat Mitzvah Sabbath service Friday at 7:45 p.m. Services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue. All interested persons may attend. Miss Neporent will be assisted by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn and Cantor John Parks.

Sabbath candles will be lit by Arlene Neporent. The Kiddush prayer will be led by Jill and Dr. Neporent. Following the services, the congregants are invited to the special Oneg Shabbat sponsored by the Neporent family in honor of Jill's Bat Mitzvah.

During the services, the memories of the following will be invoked: Reuben Leventhal, Bertha Silverman, Isadore Levine, Bernard Segal and Herman Marblestone.

There will be no Religious School classes Saturday or Monday due to the public school holiday.

The Adult Education Class, "Lifetime of the Jew," begins Monday at 8 p.m. The life-cycle ceremonies of the Jewish people will be studied and discussed. All interested persons are asked to contact Rabbi Eichhorn. Temple affiliation is not required.

Temple Brotherhood will co-sponsor a Candidate's Night on Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Temple. The candidates for mayor, alderman-at-large and county clerk will participate.

Temple Board of Trustees will meet Thursday at 8 p.m.

Temple Brotherhood officers will be officially installed during Sabbath service Friday, Oct. 17.

Persons desiring to make reservations for the Sisterhood Delicatessen Supper, Wednesday, Oct. 29, are asked to call Joan Spiegel or Judy Cohen.

Ahavath Israel

Religious services will be conducted at the conservative synagogue, Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, Friday at 8 p.m., followed by an Oneg Shabbat, and Saturday, 9:30 a.m., followed by a Kiddush. The Oneg Shabbat will be sponsored by the Sisterhood.

At both services, the Mourner's Prayer will be offered for the following departed whose Yahrzeits will be observed during the coming week: Anna Replansky, Lena Peck, Rose Lichtenstein, Rachel Marcus, Rose Salomon and Ben Pollack.

Rabbi Ayreh Lev Lupkin will officiate at both services.

Parents are advised that the Religious School and Talmud Torah will not meet Sunday and Monday due to the Columbus Day weekend holiday. Classes will resume on Thursday.

Agudas Achim

Candlelighting Friday at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, will be at 6:04 p.m. The portion of the week is Noah. Services Saturday 8:30 a.m. will be led by Cantor Herman Slomovits.

Saturday at 8:30 p.m. the Couples Club will have its first meeting of the year at the entertainment lounge of Dutch Village. All are welcome.

Kindergarten continues every Sunday at 10 a.m. Adult education classes continue on Monday nights, Bible and Tuesday nights, Hebrew.

Services are conducted weekdays 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sundays 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Brahms Program at HVP Concert

Concert Receives Enthusiastic Applause

Luis Garcia-Renart, conducted his first Kingston concert as acting music director of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Monday night and his all Brahms program received due enthusiastic applause from orchestra fans in the Community Theatre.

Garcia-Renart's unique style was strong enough to enable him to draw a solid orchestral tone from New York State's fastest growing musical organization. Repeated over and over again during the evening by many, "Doesn't the orchestra sound great tonight!"

The program opened with the Academic Festival Overture, Op. 80.

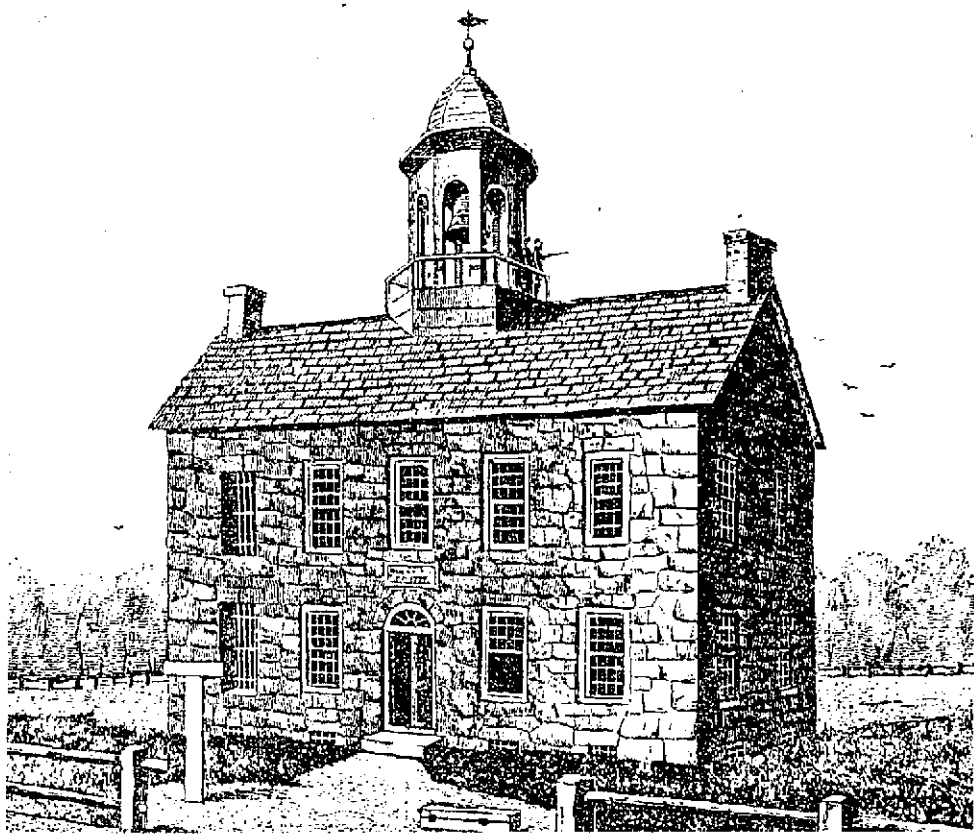

Keyboard artistry was demonstrated by Todd Crow, concert pianist, in a Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, No. 2 in B-Flat Major. An assistant professor of music at Vassar College since 1969, Mr. Crow has concertized extensively in the United States and Europe and has twice been invited to perform recitals at the annual American Liszt Festival. Crow is a powerhouse at the keyboard yet, at the same time, has a gift of musicianship which enables him to make difficult passages and runs sound like falling rose petals. Kingston's audience felt compelled to applaud him after each concerto movement.

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic also played the difficult and demanding Symphony No. 4 in E-Minor, a work completed by Brahms in 1885.

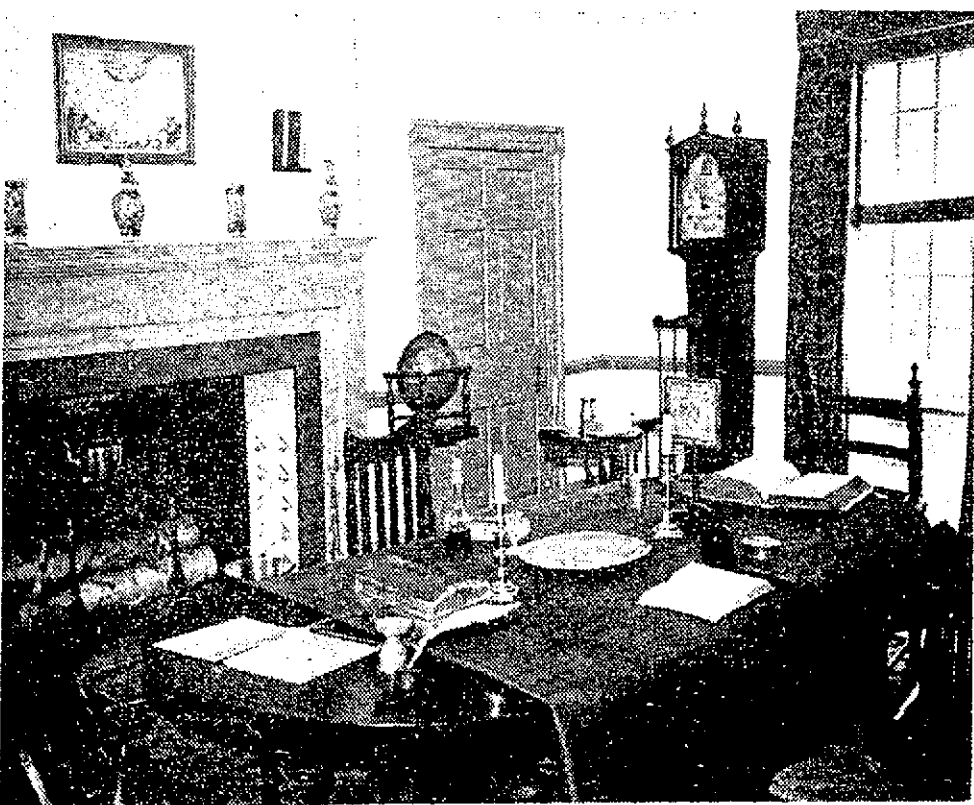

This season's Philharmonic series will feature six conductors, one of which is Luis Garcia Renart. On the podium also will be Allan Miller, associate conductor of the Denver Symphony Orchestra; Inre Palo, who made his American debut in 1973 with the National Symphony Orchestra at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.; Michael Charry, who toured as conductor and pianist for the Jose Limon Modern Dance Company and was also assistant conductor and principal oboist for the Rhode Island Philharmonic; Herbert Grossman, who joined the NBC-TV Opera Company in 1949; and Abraham Kaplan, who originally trained in orchestral conducting under the tutelage of such men as Eleazar de Carvalho and William Steinberg.

The next Philharmonic concert is scheduled for October 27 in Kingston's Community Theatre. The program will consist of: Overture to Così Fan Tutte, Mozart; Symphony No. 5, Schubert; Violin Concerto No. 5 in A-major, Mozart; Symphony No. 4 ("Italian") Mendelssohn. Luis Garcia-Renart will be conducting.

Bicentennial Engagement Calendar Offered

Another part of the Engagement Calendar is this photo of the Old Court House, from Schoonmaker's "History of Kingston." The present building was constructed in 1818 on the site of the Court House burned in 1777.

Long a mecca for both out-of-towners as well as Ulster County residents is the Senate House, used for sessions of the first New York State Senate in 1777.

Twelve beautifully reproduced photographs of buildings in Ulster County that were of historic importance during the Revolution and a map of all the buildings that survived the burning of Kingston in 1777.

All of this pertinent information is part of the newly completed Bicentennial Engagement Calendar put together by the Junior League of Kingston for 1976.

The Engagement Calendar is actually an outgrowth of a book entitled "Early Architecture in Ulster County," published by the Junior League last year.

All funds derived from the sale of this handy Engagement Calendar will be used for community projects and, according to Gretchen Traficanti, publicity chairperson for the Junior League, the calendar project will be repeated for 1977 providing the response indicates it this year.

The Junior League Engagement Calendar will be available in Kingston on Saturday, Oct. 11, during the Kingston Fall Festival program.

In addition, copies may be secured at the Book Center and O'Reilly's in Kingston, at the Senate House Museum, the Huguenot Historical Society in New Paltz, by mail order from: Mrs. Thomas Calise in Kingston or from any Junior League member. Copies also may be obtained in Ellenville at the Rondout Valley Publishing Co.

Final Arrangements Set for Freeman Show

A trip to Elbow Beach Surf Club in Bermuda for two lucky people. The latest in fashions. Some great entertainment by local personalities. And the personal appearance of two Miss Ulster County titleholders.

Put them all together and you've have the 7th annual Freeman Fashion Premiere scheduled for Monday night, Oct. 13, at the Kingston High School auditorium, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Again this year, as in the past, this Freeman Fashion Premiere extravaganza is being staged for the benefit of the United Way of Ulster County.

Tickets for the Oct. 13 benefit are still available and may be obtained by calling Caroline Seitz, at the Freeman office, 79 Hurley Avenue, telephone 331-5003.

Included in the stellar lineup of entertainers is Terri Francis Jackson, billed as "Kingston's Own Empress of the Blues." Also appearing on stage will be the popular Colonial City Chapter of Sweet Adelines under the direction of Barbara Bondar; and the professional duo of Maxine Goodheim and Bonnie Perlmutter. Live music for the occasion will be furnished by Charlie "Zoot" Misasi and his Two Plus One Trio.

Joining with the other celebrities for the 7th annual Fashion Premiere will be the current Miss Ulster County—Sharon Lee Schneck of Palenville—and the 1973 titleholder Fran Tomshaw.

Following is a list of all the fashion centers participating in this year's United Way benefit and the models representing the respective stores:

'Dollars for Clearwater' Campaign

The Ulster County Clearwater Club is embarking on a fund-raising campaign called "Dollars for Clearwater." This is a program which will help keep the Sloop Clearwater alive and active as an educational motivator in the field of ecology and the Hudson River. The Clearwater is scheduled to undergo many repairs and improvements this winter and funds are needed to pay for these.

Here is how Dollars for Clearwater works. Interested persons in the area will campaign on a set weekend in late October from door to door in the Ulster County area.

Booths, set up in various shopping centers, will be manned by volunteers. Each person who volunteers to raise monies is given an envelope with a list for names of contributors, a collecting can, identification, and a flyer with pertinent information about the campaign. As an added incentive, each person who collects $50 will receive the Clearwater Record album, free. Anyone raising even $25 will receive a free years membership in the Hudson River Sloop Restoration, which entitles the seller to membership sails on the Hudson, the receipt of the monthly newsletter the North River Navigator.

Without these much needed funds, the Clearwater may be prohibited in participating in as many sails and educational programs next summer. Organizations are desperately needed to help out, as well as any individuals. Warren Robinson may be contacted for details as soon as possible.

Feted at Luncheon

Marilyn Coffey was feted recently at a luncheon at her home on Alda Drive, St. Remy, by a large gathering of women of the Town of Esopus. Mrs. Joan Killeen hosted the event. Marilyn Coffey is seeking the office of town clerk on the Democratic and Conservative tickets in the November election.

Local La Leche League Birthday

Kingston La Leche League recently celebrated its fifth birthday by welcoming 21 women and six babies to a meeting at the home of Mrs. Hilda Pleva, 197 Main Street.

International La Leche (which means milk in Spanish) League began in 1956 in a Chicago suburb with seven women and has now grown to an international organization with 2,435 groups in 38 countries and 7,591 leaders.

Kingston La Leche League held its first meeting Sept. 29, 1970, with 28 women and 14 babies present. Pan Usticke, who founded Kingston La Leche League, is still active in the organization and is the leader for the series of four meetings which began in September and continues through December, meeting the last Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. at Mrs. Pleva's home.

In the five years La Leche League has been in Kingston, much has been accomplished to further its purpose of giving information, support and encouragement to nursing mothers or to anyone who wants to learn about nursing. More than 800 women have been in contact with La Leche, either by coming to its meetings or availing themselves of the service of phone counseling on non-medical aspects of breastfeeding and mothering. Kingston has trained five additional leaders and is presently holding a workshop for six more potential leaders. Two new groups have been formed as off-shoots of the Kingston group — one in Saugerties formed in November 1963 and one in New Paltz formed October 1975. Kingston La Leche has given talks on breastfeeding at Kingston Hospital for the maternity nurses, at the expectant parents classes sponsored by the Public Health Department, and at local schools. They have sponsored a number of film showings on childbirth and nursing with speakers featured from the medical community. Delegates have attended a number of conventions and workshops and the local leaders have served as speakers at these events. Kingston La Leche League was one of the first groups in New York State to hold a series especially for couples in addition to its monthly women-only meetings. Two of these couples series have been held with another planned for early 1976. A Father's Night has been held annually as well as a Family Picnic.

With more and more people turning to the natural way of doing things, La Leche's influence is being felt increasingly, both locally and internationally. Information on the local groups may be obtained from Pan Usticke, Kingston; Ruth Scogna, Kingston; Cheri Andrews, Tillson; Linda Donaldson, Saugerties and Judie Morcock, New Paltz.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a direct descendant of General Joseph Hooker, who served valiantly in the Civil War.

I do not know how my family name became a synonym for prostitute, whore or harlot, but I find it very offensive.

There are numerous other Hookers who are respectable, law-abiding citizens, and I am sure I speak for them when I say we Hookers are slandered by this commonly accepted, immoral connotation.

I have two daughters and a son, and the girls especially have been embarrassed numerous times by people who have made jokes about their being a couple of "hookers."

My son is seriously considering changing his name because his fiancée doesn't want to be a "Hooker," and she says if she has daughters, she doesn't want them to be "Hookers," either.

Am I overly sensitive? Or have I a point?

A PROUD HOOKER

DEAR PROUD: You have a point. Little can be done about thoughtless people who use your family name as a synonym for a woman of the streets, but I'll print your letter as a reminder. Also, if your son wants to change his name, it's his privilege.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a guy who is so cheap that he won't marry the mother of his kids because she is on welfare and it pays for all her doctor and hospital bills?

We are a young married couple who worry about the high cost of living but struggle along, trying to pay for doctor and hospital bills, the house we are buying and our taxes.

Our neighbors have been living together for three years. He makes more money than I do, but he told me that he would be a fool to marry his "old lady" because she'd lose all those benefits from welfare.

It burns me up to see them enjoying all the extra money they have from such a fraud while they laugh at us honest people.

BURNED FATHER

DEAR BURNED: I agree, it's a rotten, unjust situation. But what is the alternative? Forcing people to marry? The attendant evils to that would be even worse.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a slightly flabby male in my mid-30s who occasionally wears a corset under a turtleneck or other outfit where "midriff bulge" gives me a particularly unsightly appearance. It's not too uncomfortable, and it greatly improves the way I look.

When someone once asked me how I "lost" so much weight, I made the mistake of telling him the truth about the corset. Now I'm the butt of jokes from some of the guys at work.

What's wrong with a man wearing a corset or some kind of girdle? Men aren't ashamed to wear padded shoulders, elevated shoes and hair pieces. They have as much right as women to do whatever is necessary to improve their appearance. Yet when a man buys any kind of a support to firm up his stomach, he lies about it and says it's doctor's orders for a bad back.

What do you think about this, Abby? Women want equality. Well, so do men!

PALO ALTO

DEAR PAL: For my part, a man can wear anything he wants to wear for any reason. And if he's concerned about what others think, he's making a problem where none exists.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

BPW Panel Discussion on Equal Rights Amendment

If the Equal Rights Amendment is passed, will men and women have to share rest room facilities? Will women be forced to provide 50 percent of the financial support for their families? Will laws providing special rights for women—such as rest periods for female employees—be abolished?

These are among the many questions that will be discussed when the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club presents a panel discussion of the proposed New York State Equal Rights Amendment on Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston.

Panel moderator will be Evelyn Navy, a member of Ulster County BPW and an account executive with WKNY. Four local women will form the panel, two favoring the amendment and two opposing it. Diane Anderson, continuity director of WGHQ, is co-chairperson of the program.

Speaking in favor of ERA will be Dr. Erna Moss and Mrs. Nancy Risely. Opposing its passage are Mrs. Nancy Prymak and Mrs. Kathy Larsen.

Dr. Moss, a professor at Ulster County Community College, is chairperson of the Department of Foreign Languages. She holds a BA from Bard College and MA and Ph.D. degrees in French and German from State University of New York at Albany. Active with the League of Women Voters, she is a past president and currently heads its ERA Committee. In addition, she is chairperson of International Women's Year at UCCC. Dr. Moss resides in Hurley and is the mother of four children.

Mrs. Risely is an attorney. In addition to being a member of the firm of Riseley and Risely in conjunction with her husband, she serves as Town Justice of the Town of Olive. A 1965 graduate of Skidmore College with a BA in Economics, she received her law degree from Albany Law School in 1968 and was admitted to the bar in December of that year. Mrs. Riseley is second vice president of the Ulster County Bar Association and a member of the New York State Bar Association.

Mrs. Prymak is coordinator of the Ulster County Chapter of Operation Wake-Up, a statewide organization founded for the purpose of defeating ERA. She is a housewife with three boys and lives with her husband in the Town of Ulster.

Mrs. Prymak started the Big Sister program in Kingston and is a past member of the YWCA Board of Directors.

Mrs. Kathy Larsen is a substitute math teacher in the Kingston Consolidated School District. Mrs. Larsen received her BS from Florida State University and is working toward her masters in Mathematics Education at SUNY, New Paltz. She is president of the Port Ewen P.T.O., a 4-H Club leader and past vice president of the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Larsen resides in Port Ewen with her husband and four children.

Following a discussion of the proposed ERA, panelists will answer questions from the audience. The public is invited to attend and learn more about both sides of this vital issue and how it will affect both men and women.

In 1972, New York State ratified the Equal Rights Amendment to the United States Constitution. In 1974, the N.Y. State Legislature gave first passage to an Equal Rights Amendment to the New York State Constitution.

The proposed ERA would add a "Sec. 13" to Article One of the State Constitution as follows: "Sec. 13 Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the state of New York or any subdivision thereof on account of sex."

This amendment must pass two successive separately elected Legislatures and be approved by the people. That is, after passage by the Legislature in 1975, the ERA will be submitted to the voters in November.

The Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club supports passage of the State ERA, saying: "One of the most important changes in our lives and the lives of all women in New York State, and hopefully in all states, can happen in November 1975."

At the national level, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is working to gain support for amending the U.S. Constitution to eliminate discrimination on account of sex. Last summer at its national convention, the organization voted to approve a budget that allots a portion of membership dues for an ERA Fund until the amendment is ratified in Congress.

Composition by Brian Fennelly To Be Performed in New York

Fennelly's "Prelude and Elegy" will be performed during the same week by the Empire Brass Quintet at the Gardner Museum in Boston on Sunday, Oct. 12. "Evanescences" for instruments and tape will be played at West Chester State College in Pennsylvania Friday, Oct. 17.

"Prelude and Elegy" was recently selected by the American Society of University Composers for publication in Volume 5 of its ASUC Journal of Music Scores. A recording of the work by the Empire Brass Quintet will be released concurrently by Advanced Records. And Fennelly's most recent work, "Tessera IV" for solo contrabass trombone, will have its premiere in November at the University of Miami.

Last Spring Fennelly was among the American composers represented at the Fifth International Festival of Experimental Music held in Bourges, France. Later this year he will travel to Paris as a U.S. delegate to the International Society for Contemporary Music 1975 World Music Days, a prestigious international festival and conference. For the first time in its history, the World Music Days in 1975 will be held in the United States in Boston, sponsored by the ISCM, U.S. Section, of which Fennelly is a member of the board of directors. He also serves on the boards of the American Composers Alliance and Composers' Forum and is editor of Contemporary Music Newsletter.

Mickey Mouse in Italian at Paltz

Mickey Mouse in Italian and familiar songs such as "Santa Lucia" will be part of the Living Italian course offered by the Continuing Education Program of the New Paltz Central School.

The instructor is Maria Salvatore who has taught this course in New York City under the auspices of the Evening Extension Program of the Board of Education.

The course is for two levels of beginner students. Level One is for those who have no knowledge of Italian pronunciation or grammar and want to start from scratch. Level Two is for those who have some knowledge of pronunciation and some minimal ability to use the language. Level Two will begin with a review of Level One so that all students can start from the same point.

Classes begin the week of Oct. 13. Further information available by calling the New Paltz Board of Education or call Ms. Salvatore direct.

Speaker For Dinner

The Benedictine Hospital Alumnae Association will hold its annual dinner tonight at the Skytop Restaurant, off Route 28.

Guest speaker following the dinner at 7 o'clock will be Dr. William Askue. Dr. Askue's talk, scheduled for 8:30, will be on "Child Abuse."

A short business meeting will follow.

Ethnic Delicatessen Supper at Temple

Mrs. Bea Goldberg and Mrs. Helen Kletske co-presidents of Sisterhood Temple Emanuel have announced that this year their annual supper will be a delightful change.

It will be an Ethnic Delicatessen Supper and will be held Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 243 Albany Avenue with the first serving beginning at 5:30 p.m. After the 5:30 seating people will be served as they arrive. Reservations must be made for the 5:30 seating by contacting Mrs. Albert Spiegel or Mrs. Morton Cohen.

Traditionally, many of the candidates for election have attended the supper providing an opportunity for informal discussions with the voters in this area.

Mrs. Elaine Morrison is chairperson for the supper. Assisting will be the Mmes. Bev Shaymow, Sandy Sossner, Lenore Obderlin and Judy Robbins. A mailing has gone out with the following women participating: Miss Ruby Markson as chairperson and the Mmes. Lillian Feldman, Bea Goldberg, Ruth Barr, Celia Lippgar, Doris Goldfarb, Dora Lurie, Anita Kantor, Tessie Buckler, Ethel Rainwater, Joan Daly, Joan Plotsky, Margie Fisher, Sandy Sossner, Joyce Lowe, Bev Shaymow, Pearl Kreisberg, Jessie Goldsmith, Johanna Lurie and Helen Kletske assisting.

There will be a sale of home baked goods under the direction of Marlene Etter, assisted by Gail Levy.

Ten five pound kosher-style salamis will be awarded every one-half hour during the supper program. Mrs. Joan Fein is in charge of tickets.

Edwin Wetterhahn and Alfred Ronder will be on hand to greet guests.

Tickets for the supper will be available at the door.

Sisterhood Temple Emanuel invites everyone to attend.

Mrs. Nancy O'Hara To Speak Sunday

Mrs. Nancy O'Hara, director of rehabilitation, will be guest speaker at the Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County, 99 Henry Street, Kingston Sunday, Oct. 12 at 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. O'Hara will talk on "Educational Programs at Ulster County Jail." Some of the topics covered will be: Concern on Education, High School, College and Art Programs, Counseling, Mental Health, Changing Outlook on Life and starting an AA Program.

Mrs. O'Hara's goal is to get the community involved in the prison program by bringing people into the jail to work on starting a post release program. More women are now being made deputy sheriff.

New Paltz Students and Broadway Central are also helping in this program.

Mrs. O'Hara has been involved with the prison program for two years as a volunteer and for 10 months in a paid position.

Mrs. O'Hara has three children and lives in Woodstock.

Historical Trips for RVMS Students

Seventh grade teams at the Rondout Valley Middle School are planning a series of field trips in connection with their study of New York State history. On Friday, Team 72 will travel to the Shaker Museum in Old Chatham. The following week, on October 16, the 7th grade section of Team 87 will visit Museum Village in Monroe.

In the spring, Team 71 will go to Washington's Headquarters in Newburgh, and the New Windsor Cantonment, Vail's Gate. Also planned for the spring are a trip to the State Education Building and the Capitol in Albany, and a walking tour of Kingston's famous Old Stockade area. The fact that 1976 is the American Revolution Bicentennial will undoubtedly add to student interest in and appreciation of these historic landmarks.

Back to Work for Reds

CINCINNATI (UPI) — After a rather questionable day of so-called "rest" that included an appearance at a boisterous pre-down town party, the Cincinnati Reds went back to work today to prepare for Saturday's World Series opener against the Red Sox in Boston.

Manager Sparky Anderson summoned the Reds for an 11 a.m. (EDT) workout at Riverfront Stadium — the only home field practice before Friday's 10 a.m. departure for Boston.

The Reds, like the Red Sox, will be able to start their "ace" pitcher in the opener, thanks to winning the pennant in just three games.

Left-hander Don Gullett, who went the distance in last Saturday's first playoff game against the Pittsburgh Pirates, will oppose Luis Tiant, who was brilliant in Boston's opening win over Oakland in the American League playoffs.

After winning the National League pennant Tuesday night in Pittsburgh, the Reds' victory celebration spilled over into Wednesday's scheduled day of rest.

The Reds whooped it up with the traditional champagne party in the clubhouse and then flew back to Cincinnati in Wednesday's pre-dawn hours. They were immediately bused to downtown Fountain Square, where several thousand noisy persons had been partying on beer for several hours.

By the time the Reds were introduced to the cheering throng it was already 4 a.m. and the players needed all the rest they could get the rest of the day.

The crowd, which grew to an estimated 5,000 to 7,000 persons, acted like the Reds had already won the World Series instead of only the pennant.

Although police generally tried not to interfere with the noisy celebration, there were 20 arrests on charges including disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and assaults on police officers.

Injuries to three policemen were termed minor.

Fountain Square had been designated the official "welcoming home" spot for celebrants in order to avoid a mob scene at the airport.

Local television stations had set up cameras at the square Tuesday evening and began doing live "on the scene" reports from the square while the Reds and Pirates were still playing in Pittsburgh.

The crowd quickly increased from a few hundred to several thousand shortly after 11 p.m. when the Reds won and the TV stations increased their coverage.

A lot of the celebrants were drinking beer and empty beer cans were hurled toward the huge, lighted fountain on the square. Firecrackers popped regularly.

Several Cincinnati Reds banners put up last week by the Chamber of Commerce were ceremoniously taken down by the crowd, although officials had wanted them left up for the World Series games here next week.

Police tried to give the crowd room to mill about by blocking off automobile traffic for a block around the square. But most of the revelers, resembling a New Year's Eve throng, preferred to mass together in front of the TV lights and speakers podium.

The crowd finally began wandering away shortly after the last player was introduced at about 4 a.m., but the cans, bottles and litter left behind gave streetcleaners very little reason to relish the Reds success.

Incentive For Tiant

BOSTON (UPI) — Bostonians can't think about busing, state budget problems or even the New England Patriots today. The Red Sox are the American League champions and that's what counts.

Less than an hour after the Red Sox clinched the title in Oakland Tuesday night, fans began lining up for a 34-hour wait to buy 2,500 standing-room-only and bleacher-seat tickets to the World Series.

Andy Harp, a 25-year-old trumpet player from Wellesley, Mass., was the first in line, braving two cold New England nights on the sidewalk.

"We're fans, for crying out loud," said John Hathaway, 23. "That's why we're here. I gotta go to these games. The real Sox fans are sitting out here on the sidewalk tonight, not home reading Ellery Queen."

Some 3,000 boisterous fans were at the airport early Wednesday morning to greet their heroes and wish them well on the last leg of their battle which begins Saturday—the World Series opener here against the National League champion Cincinnati Reds.

Wary from the night game, celebrating and cross-country flight, the players spent Tuesday resting.

The Red Sox announced Wednesday that Luis Tiant, ace of the mound staff, will open the series. Tiant, 19-14, gained a crucial win with a three-hitter in the opening game of the series with Oakland. He also has a special incentive Saturday.

His parents are in the United States on a special visa from Cuba, arranged by Sens Edward Brooke, R-Mass., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who asked Premier Fidel Castro to allow them to come to America to see their son pitch.

"I never thought I would see my son pitch in a World Series," said Luis Tiant Sr., himself a one-time Latin American pitcher. "We're going to win it."

Tiant will be opposed by Don Gullett of the Reds, who are 11-10 favorites to win the opening game and 8-5 to take the series and end three years of Al's domination.

SHEEHAN'S SHOT ROLLS PAST GOALIE GIACOMIN AND JOHN BEDNARSKI

'Unfair' Goal Leads to NHL Tie

NEW YORK (UPI) — Neither New York nor Chicago was satisfied with their 2-2 tie Wednesday night in the National Hockey League opener for both teams—but both sides agreed that the tying goal was unfair.

"That was a horse — call," said Chicago left winger John Marks. "If I hadn't gotten the penalty we would have won 2-1."

Marks was penalized at 8:36 of the final stanza for holding Ranger right winger Rick Middleton. With Chicago leading 2-1, Middleton then knocked in a rebound 25 seconds later in the power play situation to give the Rangers the tie.

"It wasn't much of a hold," Middleton agreed. "He just spun me around a little."

Rod Gilbert's shot was stopped by Chicago goaltender Tony Esposito. The rebound came out to Middleton, standing in front of the crease. Esposito made the save and the puck going off to the side.

"Then I just tried to throw the puck in front of the net," Middleton said. "and I guess he let it in. I just shot blindly. I didn't see it go in."

Earlier in the period, World Hockey Association refugee Bobby Sheehan scored on a breakaway to give Chicago its first lead of the game.

Taking a pass from Phil Russell at mid-ice, Sheehan, who played for Edmonton last season, skated in alone on the left side and deked veteran goaltender Eddie Giacomin, slipping the puck into the lower right corner.

"It was a great move," said Giacomin, appearing in a club record 11th season opener. "You don't see those too often. He really showed me something."

"Maybe I shouldn't have committed myself so early, but I just didn't think he could stop that quick and move in a different direction — no, it wasn't a stop, it was more a quick turn."

New York's Bill Fairbairn, playing in his 315th consecutive game, the third longest among active players, opened the game scoring for New York at 3:25 of the second period with a power play goal as Walt Tkaczuk drew both Chicago defensemen to him before slipping the puck to Fairbairn.

Ivan Boldirev put in a Dick Redmond rebound at 16:44 on a power play, one second after the Hawks lost a two-man advantage, for a 1-1 tie after two periods.

The game marked the start of the 50th NHL season for both clubs.

It took almost five months last season for the Montreal Canadiens to assert their dominance over the Los Angeles Kings in the Norris Division.

This year, it has taken the Canadiens one night. The Canadiens and Kings collided in Montreal Wednesday night to open the National Hockey League season—and when the fog had lifted, only the Canadiens were left standing. The Kings were not only knocked out, they were buried.

Montreal rolled to a 9-0 blitzing of Los Angeles as four players scored two goals apiece. Ken Dryden, who "slumped" to a 2-69 goals against average last season, kicked out 28 shots in posting the shutout.

In other games, Detroit tied St. Louis and the New York Islanders tied Kansas City with 1-1 scores, California nipped Atlanta 4-3, and Minnesota toppled Vancouver 3-2.

The Kings loved their entire strategy last season on stopping the opposition and went the first 15 games without a loss in building a comfortable first place margin on the Canadiens. Montreal wasn't able to rev up into playoff form until January and caught Los Angeles at the end of the month never to look back.

Guy Lafleur, Bob Gainey, Jim Roberts and Jacques Lemaire all scored twice while Yvan Cournoyer tallied once for Montreal.

Red Wings 1 Blues 1

Bill Lochead scored with just 1:55 left in the game to secure Detroit the tie in the season opener for both teams.

Chuck Lesley snapped

a scoreless deadlock at 3:05 of the final period on an assist from former Red Wing Red Berenson. The Blues held a 34-19 shot advantage in the contest.

Scouts 1 Islanders 1

Guy Charron scored a first period goal for Kansas City and Billy Harris matched it in the second for New York to insure the third tie of the night. A New York goal with 12 seconds left in the game was washed out when the referee ruled it was

Seals 1 Flames 3

Rookie defenseman Bob Murdoch capped a three-goal California outburst in the second period to give the Seals a rare road victory.

Centers Larry Patey, Ralph Klassen and Dave Gardner scored the other California goals while Tom Lysiuk tallied twice for Atlanta.

Canucks 3 N. Stars 2

Gerry O'Flaherty scored with just 4:54 left in the game to give Vancouver the victory and spoil Ted Harris' debut as coach of Minnesota. Goals by Lou Nanne and Dennis Hextall gave the North Stars 1-0 and 2-1 leads before Don Lever and O'Flaherty scored in the final 12 minutes for the Canucks.

FENWAY PARK... with The Wall

The Fenway Park Wall... A Key to World Series

By MILTON RICHMAN

BOSTON (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds could wind up butting their heads against the wall the same way the Oakland A's did. Same wall, too.

Chances are they will, because outside of Merv Rettenmund and Terry Crowley (both of whom used to be with Baltimore) the rest of the Reds never have had any experience with, or even have seen, The Wall.

They'll be getting their first in-person look at it during tomorrow's pre-World Series workout at Fenway Park.

The Reds' scouts probably have told them the A's were beaten as much by The Wall in the American League's first two playoff games here last Saturday and Sunday as they were by Luis Tiant and Carl Yastrzemski. If their scouts didn't tell them that, Sal Bando could.

"The Wall cut down our power, our speed and our pitching efficiency," said the A's captain-third baseman. "A number of the balls we hit The Wall with would've gone out anywhere else. Our speed also was cut down because The Wall allowed their outfielders to play in close. And when our pitchers wanted to make certain good pitches, they knew they could still be hurt because the Boston hitters could hit The Wall with them."

All this by Sal Bando doesn't sour grapes. Personally, he did all right with the Wall, hitting it four times for as many base hits in Sunday's defeat, yet he as well as other members of the A's felt The Wall had ruined them.

Reds' manager Sparky Anderson never has been inside Fenway Park, so the only thing he knows about The Wall is what he has read about it or what he has seen of it on TV. He realizes it could be the key to this World Series.

Taking a pencil and piece of paper on his desk after his club wrapped up the pennant in Pittsburgh Tuesday night, the Reds' manager drew a rectangle which was supposed to represent The Wall.

"I've never seen it, so I don't know what to expect," he said, "but what I understand is that you have to bring your center fielder in like this anytime a ball is hit off the wall and bring your shortstop back this way, like a trap play in football."

With his pencil, Anderson drew one line showing his center fielder moving in toward the infield to his right and another line showing his shortstop turning around and hot-footing it back toward The Wall.

Roughly speaking, that's the way to play balls that hit The Wall. Except for one minor detail. They don't always bounce back the same way. They take some tricky caroms sometimes and, every time they do, you have a picture of outfielders and infielders on the opposing club going in six different directions, all trying to chase down the ball.

There never is any way to tell how a ball will come back off. The Wall is 37 feet high, but only the lower portion of it, approximately 12 feet, is made of concrete, with the upper portion being constructed of metal-like sheets all riveted together. If the ball hits the concrete portion, it bounces back one way; if it strikes the upper portion, it comes back another way. With his back to The Wall, the left fielder can't always be sure what part of The Wall the ball will hit.

Complicating matters is the fact that there is a recessed ladder built into The Wall so that someone can climb up it and retrieve those balls hit into the nets above. There is also a scoreboard built into The Wall. The scoreboard has grooves where the numbers are posted and you can imagine what happens any time a ball hits one of these grooves.

All this means the Red Sox have a built-in advantage over any other club that plays in Fenway Park because they know The Wall better. Nobody has ever played The Wall much better than Yastrzemski, who has the same knack for knowing how balls will carom off it as Carl Furillo had with balls bouncing off the tricky right field wall at Ebbets Field.

Rival outfielders, and some opposing third basemen and shortstops as well, invariably have trouble with The Wall, especially the first time they come up against it.

Among the Reds, Pete Rose probably is most anxious for a look at it. Positive thinker that he is, he feels The Wall might work out to some advantage for a couple of the Reds' left-handed hitters like Ken Griffey and Cesar Geronimo — and even himself when he's hitting from that side of the plate.

"I think we're capable of hitting a lotta line drives off that wall even without consciously trying," he says.

He may turn out to be right. Pete Rose could be the one who takes best to The Wall, but the big thing about it is that no matter who you are, The Wall, or "The Green Monster" as some call it, starts you thinking the first time you see it. When some ballplayers do that, they're automatically in trouble.

The subject brings to mind one veteran major leaguer, who certainly should have known better, but was declared out for passing one of his teammates on the base path. When he got back to the dugout, he started explaining.

"I was thinking..." he began, but was immediately cut short.

"Don't think anymore," his manager urged him. "Every time you do, you cost us a ball game."

Elder's 67 Tops Field

INZAIMACHI, Japan, Oct. 9 (UPI) — American Lee Elder fired a four under par 67 today and grabbed a one-stroke lead in the $300,000 1975 Taiheiyo Club Masters golf tournament.

Elder shot four birdies without a single bogey for his 33-34-67 on the difficult 7,187 yard par 35-36-71 Sobhu Country Club course to lead an international field of 71 pros and five amateurs. One stroke behind Elder were American pros Jim Simons and Rick Massengale and veteran Japanese pro Shozo Miyamoto, who was in the same threesome with Elder.

Defending champion Gene Littler, winner of last year's $65,000 first prize, shot a two under par 69 and was in a fifth place tie with young Japanese pros Takashi Kurihara and Yasuhiro Miyamoto and American pro Allen Miller.

Elder, who was in a sixth place tie last year, sank birdie putts of four feet on the seventh hole, 15 on the ninth, three on the 11th and eight on the 18th. He missed a three foot birdie putt on the eighth but had five one-putt pars. "I hit my ball real well today and my putting was good," Elder said. "But I want to attribute my satisfactory scores to the wonderful weather we had and the course was perfect."

Littler shot three birdies against one bogey, the par five 12th hole when he was on in four and needed two putts.

"I only had one day's practice here after competing in the Kaiser International and that wasn't enough," Littler said. "I was tired but that should be no excuse because Elder also arrived on the same plane with me."

Despite the fine weather only 12 players came in under par. Lu Hsi-chun of Taiwan shot the best amateur score of a one under par 35-35-70. He was in a ninth place tie with American Bob Dickson and Japanese pros Masashi "Jumbo" Ozaki and Kosaku Shimada.

American pros Hubert Green, Rod Curl and Jerry Pate shot a par 71 for a 13th place tie along with Maurice Bembridge of England and Japanese amateur Ginyuro Nakabe. Gary Groh, winner of the Hawaiian Open last February, skied to a six over par 37-40-77. Bob Murphy had a five over par 39-37-76,

Winner by a Beak

It was Chief Roler (5) by a nose, or was it the pigeon by a beak? — as the Hazel Park, Mich., photo finish camera caught the finish for third place money in the third race. Needless to say, the bird finished out of the money. Winston Tip (9) came in fourth—or was it fifth behind the pigeon? (UPI)

Issel Is Now A Denver Nugget

DENVER (UPI) — Denver Nuggets General Manager Carl Scheer says he would like to be considered a genius, but he will settle for being "just plain lucky."

Scheer Wednesday acquired high-scoring forward Dan Issel, an All-ABA selection in four of his five years in the league, from the Baltimore Claws for center Dave Robisch and $800,000.

The trade was forced by the disclosure that 7 foot center Marvin Webster, the Nuggets' No. 1 draft choice, may miss the entire season. He has developed a form of hepatitis, a disease which forced him to miss part of his junior year at Morgan State.

Claws President David Cohen said Webster, who grew up in Baltimore, went to the Claws in the Issel trade but Scheer denied that.

"I talked with Lee Silverman (Claws' general manager) and he apologized," said Scheer. "There is absolutely no basis for that report."

Scheer said if Webster was healthy, he would have to work some kind of a trade because Denver could not afford the salaries of Webster, Issel, rookie David Thompson and second-year forward Bobby Jones.

"But that does not mean he would go to Baltimore," said Scheer. "There is no commitment and there are a lot of teams who would like one of our players."

As for the Issel trade, Scheer wouldn't take full credit.

"This trade was nothing profound on my part," said Scheer. "We were just very, very lucky. We were unlucky in Webster getting sick but if you just stay in there and wait these things will even out. We were just plain lucky."

Issel was traded last month from the Kentucky Colonels to Baltimore for Tom Owens and $750,000. Issel, who starred at the University of Kentucky, was irate over the deal and threatened to refuse to report.

Finally, the 6-9 veteran, who had been with the Colonels' since turning pro, agreed to terms with Baltimore but was not happy. So John Y. Brown, the husband of the majority owner of the Colonels and the president of the ABA, went into action.

Nets Defeat Knicks

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Julius Erving scored 25 points and Al Skinner added 21 to lead the ABA New York Nets to a 110-101 victory Wednesday night over NBA rival the New York Knicks in an interleague game.

The Knicks led 31-25 at the end of the first quarter and finished on top at half 56-53, led by John Gianelli's 12 points and Karl Monroe's nine.

The Nets tied the game at he end of three quarters at 82-82 and Skinner's two key baskets in the fourth quarter gave New York the victory.

Kingston Must Avoid a Letdown

By Ira Fusfeld KINGSTON

When you lose, the problem is keeping your spirits up. When you win, a different kind of mental hang-up can get in your way.

"I'm worried about complacency," Kingston High School football coach Tony Badalato said prior to Wednesday's practice session for Saturday's Dutchess County Scholastic League game at Ketcham.

"We've got a young club and now that they've won they feel they can go out and do it again, which is good. But we made a lot of mistakes even though we beat Roosevelt and we have to bear down in practice to make sure they don't take this game too lightly.

"The other thing," Badalato added, "is that Ketcham just might wake up this week."

The Great Ketcham Awakening is, in fact, the entire league is dreading. Coach Ken Lynn's Indians are 0-1-1 and it's been a rare season when an RCK team has gone three straight games without a win.

"Injuries have hurt us," Lynn explained. "Our two offensive tackles got hurt and a safety, halfback, and linebacker also were injured." All that has led to even more new faces in Ketcham's lineup than Lynn had counted on before the season began. As a result, RCK has been hurt by turnovers and fumbles caused by inexperience.

Nevertheless, Lynn says his defense "has done a respectable job," and that if he club can establish a running game it will be back in business because its passing attack is one of the most potent in the league.

"We're not as strong as last year, but our kids are up," advised Lynn. "We know that Kingston is a tough, physical, hard-hitting team and that even though we've beaten them three straight times we'll be in a ball game. But if we don't make mental mistakes we'll be OK."

Ketcham's strength, as mentioned, has been its passing attack with Scott Dick doing the throwing. Joel Thomas began the season at quarterback, but now sees most of his action in the defensive backfield. Dick's favorite target is Rich Contelmo, who caught two bombs in the tie with Saugerties last week.

"He's got a great throwing arm and a great receiver," Badalato said of Dick and Contelmo. But while Kingston now lines up with five men up front primarily to stop the run, the KHS coach says "pass coverage is even better" than it was before.

Kingston plans no major changes this week. Injuries to starting offensive guards Wayne Maisch and Ricky Smith, however, probably will necessitate the promotion of Bill Manley and John O'Meara to front line duty. Defensive tackles Steve Kaznowski and Phil Razy also remain sidelined with leg ailments.

Saugerties, which has come close without success the last two weeks, puts its 0-2-1 record on the line at John Jay (1-1), which last saw action a week ago Monday in that 26-0 romp over Kingston.

The best news for Sawyer coach Fred Seither during the tie with Ketcham was the vastly improved play of both the offensive and defensive lines. Each unit performed more like the Saugerties teams DCSL foes have known to fear over the years. Only a breakdown in pass defense cost the Sawyers a win.

With John Jay, behind quarterback Jay Ennesser, known as a passing team, and with the memory of being burnt at Ketcham fresh in their minds, the Sawyers are sure to tighten up in the secondary for this week's test.

Highland Holds Key to UCAL Race

By Steve Kane KINGSTON

Saturday's Ulster County Athletic League football schedule could produce a three-way tie for first place or it could whittle the pursuers of Wallkill High down to one. It all depends on Highland.

Coach Lem Atkins brought a whole new kind of Big Blue team into the '75 season. It was one of the smaller teams Highland has ever fielded, and it was also one of the most inexperienced. Typically, Atkins didn't hide behind that all encompassing excuse of it being a "rebuilding" year for his troops. He just shrugged off his weaknesses, called his team "the most tenacious we've ever had," and put himself on the line by stating that good coaching can make up for a lot of deficiencies.

After only a month of the season, Atkins has shown once again why he is one of the area's most respected coaches. Last week's reversal at the hands of New Paltz notwithstanding, Highland has a 3-1 record, a chunk of second place, and an opportunity to move to the head of the class Saturday. All the Big Blue has to do is knock off Wallkill.

The Panthers, though, represent the biggest test Highland has had to face. Wallkill has the league's best versatile offense, and the Big Blue will have to patch up the holes it showed last week against New Paltz in order to stop the Panther attack.

Should Wallkill stretch its unbeaten string to five straight, and it will be favored to do just that, only the winner of the New Paltz-Red Hook contest will be left within a game of the league leaders. If the Blue pulls off the upset, three teams will then stand at 4-1.

The battle between the Huguenots and the Raiders shapes up as one of those good defense versus good offense things. New Paltz tops the UCAL in just about every offensive category; Red Hook is number one at the other end of the field.

The teams also have more than 3-1 records in common. Both lost their top quarterback to injuries. New Paltz's Sean Peterson went out before the season started, but Mike Beck stepped in to become the leading passer in the league. Red Hook's Ron Coon got two games in before he was sidelined. Bill Tratnack has taken over the job and put the Raiders back on the victory road last week.

The statistical matchup is an interesting one: Red Hook has allowed only 472 total yards thus far. New Paltz is averaging nearly 900 per game. Last year these teams had a barn burner with the Hugies pulling out a 26-21 win. More of the same is expected.

In other games, Rondout is at Marlboro, Onteora is at Ellenville and Pine Bush is at Liberty. The Danes will try to get the offense they showed in the second half last week going a little sooner this time, and they'll rely on their fine defense to get them good field position.

RVC will have its hands full once again, however. Another pair of Monroe boys is on the loose in the UCAL, Anthony and Terry, and that twosome will be trying to spark the Dukes to their second win.

Ellenville is winless thus far and likely to remain that way until the season runs out. The outlook for Liberty is also dim as the musclemen from Pine Bush try to continue their upward creep in the standings.

Albany State Rips Hawks, 6-1

NEW PALTZ

It was their third straight loss of the season, but for New Paltz State's soccer Hawks, Wednesday's 6-1 thrashing at the hands of Albany State was the first rout they've suffered under new coach Bob Joly.

"We were flat in the first half," Joly said after Albany had evened New Paltz' record at 3-3. The Great Danes took advantage of the NP letdown by scoring five times in the first 45 minutes.

"We've just played three of our toughest games of the season," observed Joly, who has helped bring New Paltz back to soccer respectability during his short stay here. "Outside of Oneonta and Cortland, which are still coming up, the competition will be more on our level."

Pasquale Petriccione opened the scoring for Albany at 2:20 when he converted a rebound of a Frank Selca shot. Before the half had ended, Paul Schiesel, Selca, Edgar Martinez, and Doug Runkel had found the range on Hawk goalie Jan Soodak.

Trevor James scored the New Paltz goal at 23:25 of the second half when he beat Albany goalie Henry Obwald to a ball kicked towards the net by Hawk Charlie Ogalo. But Selca's second tally, assisted by Jose Ruano at 28:17, ended the scoring.

Albany outshot New Paltz, 32-11. The Danes took 10 corner kicks to the Hawks' three. Obwald made three saves while Soodak and Mark Oppenheim combined for 15.

The Hawks have a Saturday game with Siena coming up.

Hawk Netmen Down Mercy College

DOBBS FERRY

New Paltz State's tennis team tuned up Wednesday for today's meeting with an undefeated Albany State and this weekend's SUNYAC championships by whipping Mercy College, 7-2.

The Hawks, now 4-2 on the season, took four of the six singles matches and all three doubles encounters in snapping Mercy's winning streak at four.

Roy Coopersmith opened for NP and downed Neil Keating, 6-2, 6-1. Mercy evened the count when Jack Whelan stopped Mark Chace, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. Ken McGrady then put New Paltz back up as he stopped Jeff Donner, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. But Mercy again tied the team score when Mike Cafferty defeated Dave Brenner, 6-4, 6-3.

The Hawks finally went in front to stay as Super Gnat Ron Kleinberg, the freshman from Catskill, kept his perfect season going by beating Frank Occhigrosso for his sixth win of the season. The scores were 6-2, 6-2.

Scott Rosmarin of New Paltz won the singles match, 6-0, 6-0, over Joe Bivona.

In doubles, Coopersmith and Brenner beat Keating and Whelan, 6-2, 6-3; McGrady and Chace defeated Cafferty and Occhigrosso, 6-1, 6-1; and Kleinberg and Rosmarin won by default over Bivona and Bruce Moore.

New Paltz will tackle Albany today and go from there to Oswego where seedings for the SUNYAC matches will be made tonight.

Fergus, Houston Hold Tentative Leads

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Paced by Keith Fergus' course record 65, Houston held the tentative team lead Wednesday in the first round of the 21st annual Tucker Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

The team and individual standings could change, however, because eight players were prevented from completing the 18-hole round because of darkness. They were scheduled to finish before the start of today's round in the 72-hole, four-day tourney at the University of New Mexico South Course.

Among those still on the course when darkness fell was defending NCAA champion Jay Haas of Wake Forest, which was just one stroke behind Houston's pace-setting total of 284. Houston, run-

UCCC Confirms the Ratings

MIDDLETOWN Ulster County Community College rated a number six ranking in the season's first NJCAA soccer poll, but as most observers agreed, UCCC coach George Vizvary, included, that lofty achievement was just a tip of the hat to Ulster's imposing reputation.

Wednesday, however, the Senators began to live up to that rating and bounced back from a defeat at the hands of Oneonta State's JV to whip favored Orange CCC, 3-1.

Vizvary, to say the least, was pleased. "It was beautiful. The manner in which we won really pleases me. We rolled over them, especially in the first half, and we could have had ten goals," he said.

The game loomed as a major confrontation in the early Mid Hudson Conference going. Orange had a tough loss to ninth-ranked Westchester behind it, Ulster had only an unsatisfying tie with Dutchess. The Colts were hungry to avenge a few years of futility against the Senators and to start Ulster on a downward slide in the MHC.

The Colts' hopes were never realized. The Senators never gave them a chance.

Intense pressure by the UCCC forward line from the opening whistle resulted in a goal only 3:45 into the contest. Scrappy halfback Rich Derella took a pass from Paul Rocker and boomed a shot home right under the belly of the Colts' keeper.

Ulster teams in the past have had to fight the complacency that often goes with an early lead, but perhaps the recent memory of Sunday's defeat kept the Senators aggressive. The winners continued to pound away at the Orange net until All American Tom Mulroy scored at 34:15 to give Ulster a 2-0 lead at the half.

That goal developed off a free kick—an Ulster specialty. "They were looking for play number one, so we called number two," said Vizvary. "It was executed perfectly. Derella just chipped it over to Mulroy who caught it in the air and put it in."

Mulroy hit again at 28:52 of the second half. Segundo Zapater got the assist this time as he dropped the ball back to his teammate who put UCCC out in front by three. The Colts averted the shutout two minutes later when Jim Porter found himself open after a free kick from Rob Miller and slammed one past Ulster goalie Leo Lynch.

FREE KICKS . . . Ulster jumped to fifth place in second NJCAA poll despite tie with Dutchess . . . surprising Sullivan knocked off Westchester, 3-2, Wednesday, but Westcos still lead MHC standings with 2-1 record and four points to Ulster's 1-0-1, three points. Vizvary finally seems to have Senators' lineup solidified. Lynch starts in goal with Chris Klinger and Bob Roddy in reserve. Dave Farrell, Steve Mason, Mario Austin and Aldo Sergovic man defense. Derella, Mulroy and Rocker are at midfield, and Oscar Rendon, Zapater and George Vassilaras are up front. Andre Bailey, Mike Helmich, Lou Preti, Jack Sparacio and John Ivankovic round out squad. . . . Ulster hosts Region XV foe New York City CC Monday.

Artie's Rip Smitty's

KINGSTON Six players scored in solid double figures to give Artie's a 121-108 victory over Smitty's in the YMCA "A" Basketball League. In other action, Perry's won over Edgar's 73-64.

Joe Uhl led Artie's with 28 points and Rod Chando added 26, with Bert Henderson leading in rebounds with 16. Kim Anderson hit 20 points and had 20 rebounds for Smitty's. Art Shelghtner and Greg Mackey also had 20 points each.

Dave Kane's 26 points and John McAuliffe with 24 led Perry's over Edgar's. Bill Brady topped Edgar's with 22 points and Steve Peruso and Ted Wood added 18 apiece. McAuliffe had 16 rebounds for Perry's, Wood 13 for Edgar's.

Gunther Martin, the oldest player in the SAA Soccer League, scored his second hat trick in two games to pace Terps' Toes to a 5-1 victory over Hackett's and 3-0 in the standings. Johnny-On-The-Spot trounced unbeaten West Penn 3-2.

Martin booted three consecutive goals after Gerry Hawkins (4:25) and Steve Lippincott (11:13) had put Terps ahead 2-0. He hit in 17:30, of the first half and 5:10 and 10:05 of the second half. Hawkins picked up his second goal at 18:30. Gerry Mackey scored at 9:25 of the second half to avert a Hackett's shutout.

Johnny-On-The-Spot snapped West Penn's three game winning streak. Bernie Schaeffer had a pair of first half goals at 6:35 and 12:15. Sonny Roncancio made it 3-0 with a goal at 27:45 to give the winners a 3-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, Evan Gatten (8:05) and Paul Dye (16:00) scored for West Penn, while Schaeffer (5:25) and Roncancio (9:05) added second goals for the winners.

The people who make Utica Club hereby issue this friendly challenge.

Take any two beers of your choice. And one of ours. Utica Club. Pour them into mugs. Have someone blindfold you or just mix the mugs up.

Now, taste the beers. See if you can tell them apart. And, if so, which one would you set apart.

Before you give us your verdict, allow us to plead our case.

In tests like this conducted in colleges in upstate New York, Utica Club was preferred more often than not. Not just by Utica Club drinkers, either.

Everyone was surprised by the results. Except, of course, for us.

Now here's how to mark yourself.

If you pick us out, we both pass.

If you pick another beer over us, we fail.

If you can't tell the difference between the beers, you'll just have to try again. (And don't fail to notice that your favorite beers didn't taste any better than our favorite.)

Either way, we're sure that with this exam, you won't fail to enjoy yourself. After all, how many other exams can you drink your way through?

Walkkill Holds 19th

KINGSTON Walkkill High, which last week had to rally to edge Rondout Valley by a 7-6 count, held on to its No. 19 spot in this week's New York State Sports Writers Association small school football poll.

The Panthers, 4-0 on the season, are the only team from the Ulster County Athletic League in the top 20. But Red Hook, Rondout, and New Paltz are listed as honorable mention. Also honorable mention, but in the large school division, is DCSU, leading Arlington High.

Vestal of Section Four, and Waterville of Section Five, are the No. 1 large and small school teams respectively.

Oklahoma and Texas Big Saturday Special

By RICK GOSSELIN

UPI Sports Writer

There was a time when the University of Texas would purposely invite the gullible country folk from Oklahoma to visit the big city of Dallas to play a little old college football game.

And Oklahoma, invariably, got slicker.

But any more, Oklahoma now has one of the biggest college football machines in the country and it takes more than the bright lights of a big city to stagger the Sooners. It takes a good solid effort—and sometimes even that isn't good enough as Miami of Florida and Colorado each found out during the past two weeks.

Oklahoma was a mere three point winner over Miami two weeks ago at the Orange Bowl—a narrow victory that cost the Sooners their No. 1 ranking in the UPI coaches poll. Last week, Oklahoma beat Colorado by one point as the Buffalo kicker missed an extra point attempt with less than two minutes remaining.

Both times Oklahoma was outplayed and after both games Sooners Coach Barry Switzer proclaimed, "we were lucky to win."

No. 2 ranked Oklahoma visits Dallas to meet the unbeaten and No. 5 ranked Texas Longhorns this Saturday and the winner is likely to go onto bigger and better things in the UPI rankings—possibly the No. 1 spot. Oklahoma is about due to wake up...we look for the Sooners to win 24-14.

Elsewhere across the nation: East

Penn State 27 West Virginia 22—If the game was played at West Virginia the score would be reversed.

Pittsburgh 31 Temple 12—Tony Dorsett has had a long frustrating season and is about due for a 200-yard effort.

Boston College 24 Tulane 10

—Tulane has been losing to everyone lately and it's about time it lost to a good team.

In other games: Navy by 3 over Syracuse, Duke to revive by 8 over Army, and Brown by 12 over Yale.

South

Colorado 35 Miami (Fla.) 20 (Fri. Nite)—Another frustrating weekend for Miami against a Big Eight power.

Maryland 20 North Carolina St. 17—Again, home field reigns supreme...as does soph Terp quarterback Larry Dick.

Notre Dame 42 North Carolina 14—Now that Dan Devine has his first loss at Notre Dame under his belt, the Irish can begin rebuilding ego.

Kentucky 17 Auburn 6—Auburn has lost four in a row and there's no reason to think it can't lose five.

In other games: Wake Forest by 1 over Clemson, Georgia by 10 over Mississippi, Tennessee by 29 over LSU and Florida by 9 over Vanderbilt.

Midwest

Michigan State 24 Michigan 17—Both teams restored tarnished images with big upset victories last week...but Michigan State is hungrier, has the home field advantage and hasn't beaten Michigan since 1969.

Ohio State 48 Iowa 7—After Michigan State, Penn State, North Carolina and UCLA, Buckeyes need a breather. Winless Iowa fills the bill.

Nebraska 28 Kansas 13—Winner of Big Eight title will probably have one loss...but Nebraska can't afford to use up that loss against Kansas.

Missouri 21 Oklahoma State 14—Tigers were humiliated at Michigan last week and are anxious to prove it a fluke in front of a home crowd.

In other games: Houston 15

by 16 over Purdue, Illinois by 13 over Minnesota and Miami of Ohio by 16 over Dayton.

Southwest

Texas A&M 17 Texas Tech 7—Texas A&M has given up an average of just five points a game this year...and home field should be worth an extra two points for Tech.

Arkansas 20 Baylor 12—Jerry Eckwood to get his 100 yards again and the Hogs will capitalize on it to turn back hard luck Bears on Baylor campus.

SMU 28 TCU 3—That'll make it 15 straight losses for Horned Frogs.

In other games: Houston 15

over North Texas State and Arizona by 18 over Texas El Paso.

Far West and Rockies

USC 42 Washington 13—If you can't beat Illinois on the road you can't beat Ricky Bell and Co. at Southern Cal.

UCLA 35 Stanford 27—This one should be held at the O.K. Corral...Stanford's Mike Cordova and UCLA's John Sierra can wing it.

Arizona State 38 New Mexico 12—Only two teams have any class in this neck of the woods and both are in Arizona.

In other games: San Jose State by 10 over Long Beach State and Air Force by 12 over Brigham Young.

Coach Odeneal Explains

NEW PALTZ Coach William T. (Bill) Odeneal of the New Paltz State University golf varsity has clarified the "disqualification" of the Hawks in the recent SUNYAC Championships at Cooperstown.

A United Press-International report said that Hawks were disqualified when two team members dropped out of play.

"Two of our players did drop out," said Odeneal, "but for good reasons. One developed foot blisters because of new golf shoes and another sustained a neck injury during a swing."

Oswego won the team championship with a 401 aggregate and Bob Branham of Cortland repeated as individual champion in the competition at Cooperstown Country Club.

The Hawks found the atmosphere at West Point equally depressing, failing to qualify a player in the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC) trials over the rugged, hilly West Point course. Six individuals and three teams were qualified for the ECAC Championships at Doylestown, Pa. on Oct. 16.

In the next to the last meet of the season, the Hawks went down to a 9-15-1 defeat at the hands of Mercy College of New York, a new school on the SU schedule.

Mitch Richmond and Peter Leggeri accounted for the two Hawks wins in the dual match.

The results: Cliff Kalvel (77) MC defeated Harry Cohn (85), 3-0; Dom Fusco (80) MC def. Frank Badome (94), 3-0; Mitch Richmond (89) NP def. Barbara Schark (99), 3-0; Robert Morabito (89) MC def. John Perry (99), 3-0; Peter Leggeri (99) NP def. Peter Zachin (101), 2-1-2.

New Paltz ends its season against Maritime next Tuesday at Huguenot Manor.

Miller Hits Board Action

SAUGERTIES

Addressing a recent meeting of Democratic committeemen, Paul Miller, Democratic candidate for Saugerties town supervisor, cited two recent incidents which he said indicate a serious failure on the part of the incumbent supervisor to exercise the kind of leadership required for the post.

Miller said that as a result of his recent call for an investigation of the former town zoning commission and its chairman in particular, the town board met in "secret session" and "apparently decided to proceed without reconvening the zoning commission, hoping thereby to avoid subjecting the former commission chairman's behavior to public scrutiny."

"There was no justification for that closed meeting," Miller continued. "Even planning board members, who have a legitimate interest in matters pertaining to zoning, were excluded."

Speaking of the harm which can be done at closed meetings, Miller said, "People don't realize that town government is like an iceberg. Most of it is invisible. The real harm is done by forces the taxpayer does not ordinarily see — deals made by business friends with no more evidence than a handclasp, cozy arrangements between town officials and builders — usually quite legal, but also usually against the best interests of the community. Part of my job as a candidate and later on as town supervisor will be to let the public know the facts."

Miller was also critical of action taken by the town board, which gave a trailer park operator, Gil Trnka, 10 days to correct alleged violations of the Trailer Park Ordinance.

"I paid a visit to the trailer park immediately afterwards, fully expecting to see a situation which would justify the board's action," said Miller, "but was surprised to find instead a neat, well laid out park with none of the undesirable features frequently connected with such areas."

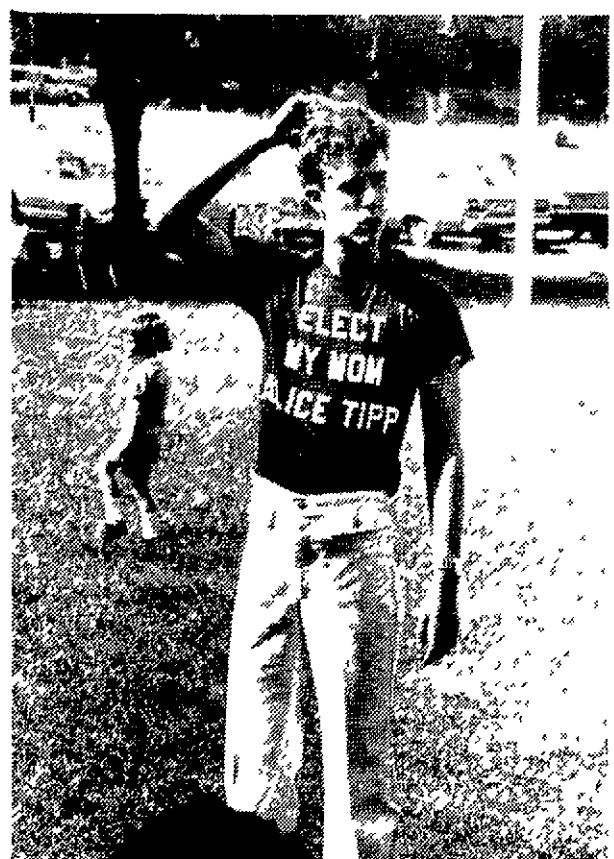

Miller said that while he and Trnka have had differences on the zoning question, he (Miller) would not associate himself with efforts to bully any businessman or individual out of rights he is entitled to under law.

"I am against this kind of zoning," Miller concluded. "But I am for zoning that will protect each of us against unfair encroachments by the wealthy, the powerful, and those who have contempt for the land we love."

T-Shirt Tells All

Although Walter Tipp of Saugerties seems puzzled about something, there is one thing he certainly seems sure of. He wants his mom, Alice Tipp, elected to the Ulster County Legislature Nov. 4. Mrs. Tipp, a consumer advocate and former president of the We've Had It Taxpayers Association, is running on the Republican ticket in the new District 3. (Saugerties)

Training Is Cited

HYDE PARK Mac Smith, Democratic candidate for Dutchess County Sheriff, says one of his top priorities for change within the sheriff's department will be the proper training of deputies.

"Thoroughly trained professional law enforcement officers are the key to any efficient, well run police department," Smith said.

"There have been repeated grand jury investigations into the incidents involving deputy sheriffs," Smith continued. "The results of these investigations point directly to the insufficient training of deputies."

He explained that one grand jury investigation into the use of deadly physical force by deputies resulted in a finding that one of the officers who testified had no knowledge at all concerning the justifiable use of deadly physical force.

Smith quoted the grand jury as saying, "We find in the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office a total lack of emphasis on training deputy sheriffs in the laws governing the justifiable use of deadly physical force on the part of the deputies."

Saugerties GOP Dinner Oct. 25

Saugerties Town Chairman Michael Catalinotto, on the right, has appointed Vincent Hackett (center) general chairman of the town committee's annual dinner-dance, set for Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. at the Flamingo Restaurant this year. Joining them are Robert Moser, master of ceremonies, Sandra Bartels (L) and Linda Kimble, in charge of decorations. Catalinotto was recently elected to a full two-year term as town chairman. He succeeded Timothy Murphy earlier this year. Vice Chairman is Paul Pavlovitch. Jennifer Peetoom is secretary and Bruce Fellows is treasurer of the town GOP Committee. Hackett appointed Eugene Davis and Louis Francello to the journal and program committee, Pavlovich to tickets, Shirley Breitenbach to publicity and Kay Scala to the raffle committee. (Freeman photo)

Consumer Interest Termed Wde-Spread

KERHONKSON

Mrs. Belle Sundeen, United Consumer Party candidate for the Ulster County Legislature in new Dist. 7 (Marbletown and Rochester), said today that the presence of her party on the ballot reflectw the wide interest in having consumer programs brought into the political arena.

She said she feels it is important to note that the about 450 signatures on the nominating petition of the United Consumer Party represents at least 10 percent of the voting electorate in her district. She also claims that 50 percent of the signatures are those of enrolled Republicans.

"This indicates a wide dissatisfaction with the policies of that party, ranging from narrow partisan policy of the Republican caucus in the legislature, to the big business, monopoly-serving policy of the Ford Administration."

Mrs. Sundeen indicated that her long advocacy and activism of consumer interest will attract the same wide cross-section of citizens in voting on Nov. 4 for the continuation of those policies in the county legislature.

Grassi Seeks Another Line

ROSENDALE

Rosendale and Esopus voters who may wish to vote for a candidate on the Conservative Line. The Freedom Party Line with only Carl Grassi running as an independent should eliminate these problems."

Robert J. Sheehan, chairman of the "Committee to Elect Carl Grassi Legislator," said Grassi will seek an independent line in addition to his already endorsed Conservative line. Grassi is seeking election in Dist. 6.

Sheehan said "The reason we decided to petition for an independent line is that there are many people who because, of either their party affiliation or personal reasons will not vote for a candidate on the Conservative Line. The Freedom Party Line with only Carl Grassi running as an independent should eliminate these problems."

Grassi as an active Conservative committeeman for many years as well as second Vice Chairman of the Ulster County Executive Committee, will resign his position as committeeman when elected because he feels that an elected official should not also be a committeeman. He did not do this when elected mayor of Rosendale in 1971-72 because at that time he felt there were not enough active Conservatives, but presently that picture is changing. he said.

"There are seven candidates running for legislator in Dist. 6 and only three positions open. "Scrutinize each and every candidate and vote the individual," Grassi said. "Think people, not politics."

Discussing the Issues

Congressman Mathew F. McHugh (L) and Ulster County Legislature candidate Thomas E. Nyquist (center) discuss issues with an unidentified constituent during McHugh's recent stop-over in Ulster County. Nyquist is seeking election to the legislature as a Democratic candidate from District 8 (New Paltz, Gardiner and Shawangunk). McHugh, a Democrat, represents the 27th Congressional District. McHugh's legislative assistant, Dan Creasey, is also shown.

Olive Town GOP On Bridge Issue

WEST SHOKAN

Seven Town of Olive Republicans have replied to a Democratic candidate for the Ulster County Legislature who has accused them of seeking publicity regarding the opening of the Traver Hollow bridge.

Supervisor Oliver A. Crawford said that he and the other six Republicans are "citing the actual facts as they happened, rather than using deceptive and innuendo."

Crawford said the seven are in complete agreement that the opening of the bridge is of the utmost necessity to area residents, and for the bridge to be structurally sound for the complete safety of all who pass over it.

Crawford said he has been in constant communication with New York City engineers and other officials since the bridge was closed on June 5.

Crawford said that the "other six" Republicans, County Legislator Ernest J. Gardner, Town Chairman Edward Scanlon, Highway Superintendent Marcel Maier, Town Clerk E. Lee Denman, Town Justice Alfred Higley and zoning board member Dino Guliano, "have all been united in their efforts, have done their homework, and have been sincere in their concern for town residents."

"When all normal communication channels produced only more procrastination by New York City Democratic officials, we agreed that the only avenue left was a lawsuit against the city," Crawford said.

"The Republicans are united in a common cause for the best interests of the town, while the Democrats have accomplished nothing," Crawford concluded.

Apply For Your Number

KINGSTON

Students, housewives and others planning to get holiday jobs should apply soon for a Social Security number if they don't have one, according to George J. Habernig, Social Security district manager in Kingston.

"Applications from people who don't recall having had a Social Security number before generally are screened against central files in Baltimore to make sure a second number isn't issued to the same person," Habernig said. "Screening takes time, so you should apply for your number at least several weeks before you need it for a job covered by Social Security."

Persons interested can get information about applying for a number by calling or writing to any Social Security office. Persons applying for a Social Security number for the first time may be asked to prove their age, identity and citizenship, according to Habernig.

Trade Expert

KINGSTON

Stanley Schwartz, a trade specialist with the U.S. Department of Commerce, will visit the Mid-Hudson area Oct. 14-17 to meet with local manufacturers about beginning or expanding export trade.

Schwartz, of the department's New York District Office, will discuss with manufacturers of the six-county area the latest data on foreign markets of interest to them and outline government service available in selling overseas.

Ulster County is included in his itinerary. Firms may arrange for visits by contacting the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce, an associate office of the department.

Among the exporter services, which Schwartz will discuss are an automated and product-selective foreign sales lead program, assistance in finding overseas sales representatives, foreign market research, and product promotion opportunities, including Commerce-sponsored trade shows in key markets abroad.

Seniors' Flu Shots

ROSENDALE

Flu shots for senior citizens in Rosendale have been rescheduled for Monday, Oct. 20 from 3 to 4:30 p.m. at the new firemen's hall, Main Street, Rosendale.

The program is being coordinated by the Ulster County Legislature, Public Health Committee, Board of Health, Office for the Aging and Program for the Aging Committee.

Ulster FHA Office Is Honored

The Ulster County office of the Farmers Home Administration was honored recently with an award from district directors. Shown with the plaques are (L to R) Jack Massano, county supervisor; Victoria Musso, county office assistant; Lorraine Fiore, county office clerk; and John Ketz, assistant county supervisor. The Ulster County office was chosen from among 32 county offices in the state. The larger plaque will be rotated yearly to the winning office, with the local office retaining permanent possession of the smaller plaque.

Blood Bank Gift

KINGSTON

Arthur C. Chipp, president of the Ulster County Blood Bank, has acknowledged with thanks the receipt of a "substantial gift" made by the Sutton Memorial Fund of Ulster Lodge 193, F&AM.

The gift will be used specifically for certain members of the Senior Citizens Golden Age Club of Woodstock who are unable to find donors or otherwise meet certain requirements for membership in the Ulster County Blood Bank Group Plan.

"The ideal situation in any blood bank," said Chipp, "is to have sponsor donors for individuals in these categories, but far too often we find this impossible. Consequently, we welcome this gift which will help alleviate certain such situations."

A fact generally well known is that individuals upon reaching the age of 60, by law, are not able to donate blood unless they have written approval from their personal physician. A fact not so well known is that there are more than 23,000 senior citizens in Ulster County.

Community Awards

RED HOOK

Jerome Ochs of Rhinebeck and Peter Lawson of Red Hook

have been selected by the Red Hook-Rhinebeck Jaycees to receive community service awards for 1975.

Ochs was awarded the Distinguished Service Award. He is an elementary school principal in the Rhinebeck system, described by District Principal Dr. James Sailer as a "doer" who achieves harmony and progress in the field of education. His recently instituted outdoor education program where students live for a week at a camp has proven to be an overwhelming success.

Lawson, assistant high school principal in the Red Hook system, has proceeded in a direction of providing activities to make the town greater, said Jaycees, through his school contacts and as a member of the Town-Village Recreation Commission.

For Friday, Oct. 10, 1975
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't put your mouth in motion before your brain is in gear today. You could be very irritating to all within earshot.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll find you're better at handling serious matters in the p.m. than in the a.m. Don't rush into decisions without weighing alternatives.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your first impulse today is to look after your self-interests. You'll soon discover you'll accomplish more by adhering to the spirit of give-and-take.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you don't succeed on the first try and you probably won't hang in there. It may take several attempts, but you'll catch the brass ring.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're apt to experience some domestic pressures early in the day. Later, things will get brighter. You won't even remember what disturbed you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An opportunity that will make or save you money will pop up suddenly. Be on your toes to grab it, for it will disappear as quickly as it appeared.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Keep your schedule flexible today. You're going to make some sudden changes in direction. You won't want to be locked into an outmoded plan.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't be surprised if day it someone who owes you an old debt comes forth and pays at least part of the obligation.

Jean Adams TEEN FORUM

By Jean Adams, Ph.D.

CONCERTS: (Q.) I met Sharon at this concert. She's 13 and I'm 12. The concert is once a week and she comes to it. She goes to another school, so I only see her at the concert. I am really shy and don't know how to go about putting my arm around her or kissing her. I am pretty sure she likes me — A Friend in Pennsylvania (A.) You don't have to kiss or hug Sharon to show her you are interested in her. Besides, that would be in poor taste in public. Sitting with her and holding her hand once in a while are enough for now.
You might ask your parents to invite her to visit all of you at home some time.

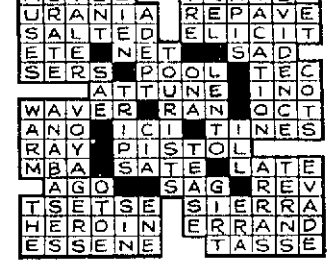

FOUR YEARS: (Q.) I am really afraid of what is happening to me. I am 18 and have been married four years. My husband, Tom, is 27. Both of us work. We have no children. He likes other girls more than me. And he likes to drink. Those are the two things that scare me.
We hardly have sex anymore. I have almost forgotten how it is to be held and wanted. He seems only to want fun and attention, and drinking and flirting with someone besides me. Should I give up and leave him? — Nothing in Alabama
(A.) You were married at 14. No girl that age can know for sure what she wants in a man for the next 50 or 60 or 70 years. You didn't. You made a mistake. Face it now and start over.
Many girls in their mid-or-higher teens are considering doing what you did. I hope they will read this and ask themselves if maybe you don't have a message for them.

At trick two he played his ace of trumps. The singleton king dropped, whereupon South had no trouble scoring all 13 tricks.

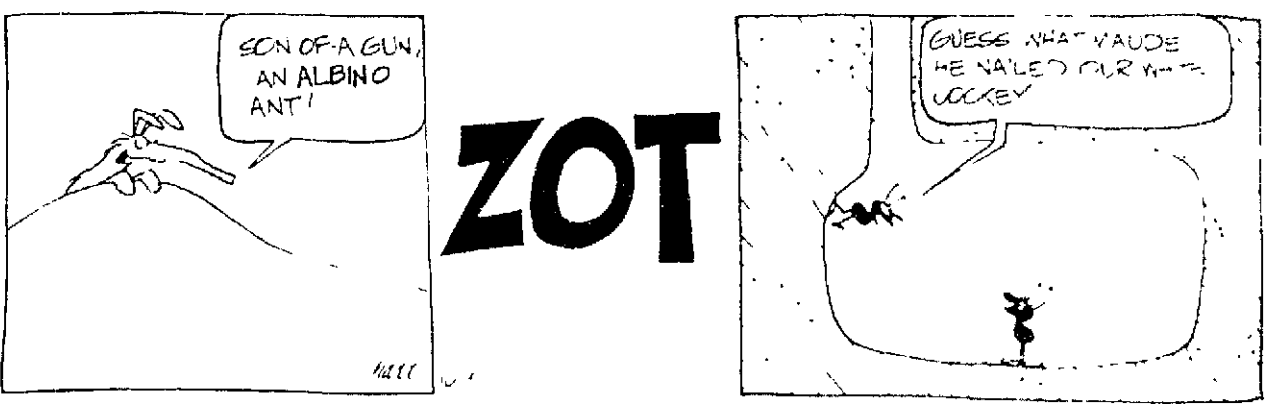

Apart from the fact that the play worked it was the best percentage. There was a 26 chance to drop a singleton king. It it failed to drop there was a 10 chance that clubs would break 3-3. That would allow two spade discards on clubs unless it turned out that West had started with all three diamonds. In addition it clubs broke 4-2 and diamonds 2-1 everything would come up roses for South.

We leave you to work out the whole play if you wish. The total chance comes out to a trifle better than 50% chance a straight finish would provide.

Passage For Chileans For Release of Hostages

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentina has offered safe passage out of the country to a band of Chilean exiles demanding U.N. identity papers in exchange for five hostages seized at the offices of the U.N. High Commissioner on Refugees.

(In Geneva, Switzerland U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan said today he would immediately meet the exiles' demands and had asked Sweden, Denmark and Algeria to accept them.

"We are now waiting for replies," said a spokesman for the high commissioner.

"The refugees will be transferred immediately as soon as one of the three countries we have contacted agrees to accept them. We are in regular telephone contact with the refugees and the hostages and the hostages are being treated very correctly," the spokesman said.)

The refugees had threatened to blow up the downtown office building — six blocks from the presidential palace — if authorities used force to end the siege.

The group — 11 Chileans and one Brazilian — seized the office Wednesday morning, demanding U.N. identity documents permitting them to leave Argentina.

They originally seized 14 hostages but later released all eight women and one of the six men. The freed man reportedly showed symptoms of an epileptic attack.

One of the hostages still held was Robert Mueller, a Swiss citizen and U.N. high commissioner for refugees in Latin

Closing Day For the UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly's three-week policy debate, marred by a bitter dispute between the United States and Uganda, entered its final day today with a speech by King Olav V of Norway.

King Olav was among the last of 126 speakers, including 11 heads of state and 49 foreign ministers, to address the 30th annual assembly session.

Most foreign ministers have already gone home or planned to depart today, leaving their subordinates to hammer out concrete actions from their general proposals.

The assembly will continue its work in committees until shortly before Christmas.

A simmering dispute between the United States and Uganda overshadowed the last week of the session.

Ugandan President Idi Amin, in an address to the assembly, called for the "extinction" of Israel and said the United States was in the grip of Zionists.

U.S. Ambassador Daniel Moynihan subsequently referred to Amin as a "racist murderer," and U.S. delegate Clarence Mitchell indirectly compared the Ugandan leader to Adolf Hitler.

The White House announced Tuesday that President Ford fully supports Moynihan's remarks and believes "Ambassador Moynihan and Clarence Mitchell said what needed to be said."

Nigerian Foreign Minister J.N. Garba said Wednesday Amin's remarks on Israel and the United States were made in his capacity as president of Uganda, not as head of the Organization of African Unity.

House OKs Technicians to Sinai

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has agreed to permit President Ford to send 200 volunteer technicians to the Sinai desert to monitor the Israeli-Egyptian disengagement accord.

The joint resolution, adopted Wednesday on a 341-69 vote, stipulates that the technicians must be civilian volunteers and may be withdrawn either by the President or Congress should another Israeli-Egypt war erupt, the volunteers' safety be jeopardized, or their mission completed.

The Senate, which was acting on a similar resolution when the House voted, planned to debate a variety of amendments today and set a final vote for 4 p.m. Friday.

State Department officials estimated it would cost

$20 million to station the technicians in the Sinai this fiscal year.

Passage by the Senate was certain. But problems could arise if the Senate either refused to accept several minor amendments passed by the House or passed any of its own, since the House planned to recess for a 10-day Columbus holiday early today, making any conference needed to work out differences impossible for nearly two weeks.

The Senate killed one amendment 54-28 that would have reaffirmed the 1967 United Nations resolution as the 'basic policy' for seeking peace in the Middle East. The one-sided vote indicated the Senate would spurn any changes in the resolution.

During nearly five hours of debate, the House accepted only two minor amendments to the joint resolution sought for more than a month by the Administration.

One amendment simply made it clear the resolution does not give the President any authority not already in existence to use American troops to rescue the U.S. technicians should that be necessary. The other urges other nations to replace some or all of the American technicians with their own personnel.

The House rejected nearly half a dozen amendments, including one that would have set a two-year limit on the stationing of the U.S. technicians in the Sinai. That amendment was defeated, 287-122.

Surveillance Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Intelligence Committee today opened public hearings on electronic surveillance of American citizens by the FBI and other intelligence agencies.

At the same time, the equivalent Senate panel granted immunity to a former CIA scientist, Dr. Sidney Gottlieb, to testify behind closed doors on why he did not follow orders and destroy in 1970 a CIA poison cache which was found intact and still lethal only a few months ago.

Rep. Otis Pike, chairman of the House committee, called five witnesses before his 13-man panel for questioning on reports of widespread "bugging" of citizens by various intelligence agencies over the last years.

They are Michael Herschman, former chief investigator of the National Wire Tap Commission and now with the Federal Election Commission; Martin Kaiser of Martin Kaiser, Inc., an electronics firm; Anthony Farris, former U.S. attorney for Eastern Texas and now in private practice; Anthony Zavala, former officer of the Houston Police Department, and James Kraus, chief of the FBI's Antitrust and Bankruptcy Unit.

The House committee already has heard sketchy testimony from the National Security Agency, the department that monitors foreign communications ranging from military and diplomatic traffic to space and rocket signals.

NSA has been accused of extending its monitoring to telephone and cable communications from Americans to foreign countries.

NSA General Counsel Ray Banner testified in August that the agency believed it had authority under national security requirements to monitor communications with foreign countries, regardless of whether an American was involved.
